2 OAK ST APT 3L
WP. NY. 10603.

Well Ju-Ju its time for you to go on about your business and time for me to do the same. It was nice knowing you the while I did. Don't go away to College forgetting all of your friends behind. Always remember the good times and secrets we shared (R.K.) (U+BD).

Remember when we used to have many of laughs at Basketball practice and the games. Remember at Eastchester (me, you, and Jalayne) (OH shit a man is coming) (Ju-Ju put the J- - - - down before we get busted) (Jalayne give me a light I'm cold), (Damn Ju-Ju you wet the shit all up), (stop slobing on the J- - - - , damn that's why it ain't pulling right). Well Ju-Ju remember the letter you received from your friend G.M. and all the things I received from R.K. (HA, HA, HA).

Remember when the bus left me on the way to Eastchester (OH SHIT). But always remember me and I'll always remember you. Have a nice summer and stay sweet. Don't Do Nothing I Won't do after the Prom.

LOVE Always

The most important thing I have learned from this experience is that I must always keep my mind open to new ideas and experiences. I must also remember to take time for myself
 and to enjoy the journey.
 Finally, I must never give up, no matter how difficult the road may be.

EDITOR'S NOTE — When I was appointed editor of JANUS:83 I realized that I didn't even know the meaning of Janus. After I found out its full meaning, I decided that the theme of this year's yearbook must follow that meaning. In a year which has been marked by extremely troubled and bitter moments, we must continue to be hopeful and to work towards a better future. However, we must never allow the past to slip from our minds, nor lose or diminish our awareness of the present. JANUS:83 has captured some of the "highs" and "lows" of this past year and will hopefully serve as a permanent record of them for all.

Students these days are more aware of how hard they have to work than ever before. They are finding they have less and less time to do the things they enjoy. Well, they aren't the only ones. We asked some teachers what they do in their spare time and here's what they had to say . . .

Miss. McClare — "I plan all the things I want to do for when I finally have time to do them."

Mr. Courtney — "I come to meetings at Woodlands High School to organize trips to foreign countries, talk about the W.I.S.E. program, work on the yearbook, and once, on November 17th, I spent my spare time raking the leaves on my front lawn."

Mr. Pasko — "I worry about my thesis for Boston University" (He is working toward a Doctorate Degree in Foreign Languages).

Mr. Boone — "WORK!"

Mr. Leviatin and Mr. Camenson — In unison: "What spare time?"

Mr. Roth — "I work out, jog, lift weights, play tennis — I try to relax when I'm away from my job."

Mrs. Feller — "I never have spare time!!"

Mrs. Schleifer — "I pickle cucumbers."

Mr. Tversky — "I certainly don't take Tylenol!"

There's more to the CRC than meets the ear . . .

There is a lot of history behind the CRC that not many people are aware of. Seven years ago a proposal for a Career Resource Center was made to the school board. The program was to be federally funded. With the boards' consent, the CRC was put into action and Lois Lowsky was hired to man the station. Mrs. Lowsky, who worked part-time for the first year and the full-time thereafter, developed this program into a full-time student-oriented center. The federal funding then suddenly ran out after two years of hard work. But fortunately the school board picked up the cost and the CRC moved to its current location in the library.

The CRC is a helpful center for many reasons. It helps students to understand what they want to do after high school. It has helpful information on hundreds of colleges and universities, most of which students are unaware of until they enter the center. The CRC also has information on careers. Many students are unsure of what they want to major in in college, or what they would like their job to be in the future.

The computer in the CRC has a great deal of information about career salaries, demands and more. As well as information on colleges. Many students owe a great deal to the resources in the center, and to Mrs. Lowsky for her sincere dedication to her job.

You walk into school and you have a typical day. You go to classes and the first thing you look at are blackboards. (The following has been taken from blackboards in Woodlands High School and have been in no way deciphered or translated)

English (Mrs. Lahrmann's room): What does this play mean? . . . How do you feel? . . . (in graffiti; Fine, how are you?) . . . symbolic? . . . secret meaning perhaps . . . surface? . . . (in graffiti; Bumpy — this board is bumpy) . . . ??????

Art (Mr. Courtney's room): Senior ¼ page folder . . . contests . . . parallels . . . opposites . . . AN AD!!! . . . Events! . . . Assignments! . . . photography . . . notices . . . Yearbook INFO . . . win first place . . . 12:30- 12:29 . . . Oh! Eric, on Mon. announcements . . . Key Club . . . photos . . . thursday . . . "Excuse me Ms. Girlfriend . . ."

Everyone knows Mrs. Sydnor is a terrific teacher, but DID YOU KNOW that she is a black belt in Karate? She also has a twin sister who is a teacher in New Rochelle High School. Can you imagine two of her? This year, for the first time, she is teaching calculus and feels fortunate and a little guilty to have such a great group of kids and to love the course she's teaching. "I feel lucky to have them even when I have to chew them out — I have to lace into them sometimes because I don't think they're doing fair by themselves", she says pointing her finger and raising her eye brows. Don't ask to go to the bathroom in her class; she'll just dismiss you with "You don't have to go to the bathroom, you don't have to go to the bathroom, you don't have to go to the bathroom, nobody has to go to the bathroom!" Oh, and if you don't pay attention, watch it — she may ask you "Excuse me Ms. Girlfriend, is math out the window??" But most of all, you'd better do your homework because if you don't, it's " . . . like signing your own death warrant! Mmhmm yes it is!!!" And don't " . . . just sit there like a wart-on-a-pickle!" You have to pay attention and give the right answer when you know it because if you don't, she may ask you to "run that by me one more time?!!" or she'll just "pretend I didn't hear that!".

"My nature is to get up and go!"

Mr. Adams is a new special education teacher at Woodlands but is not new to teaching at all. Having taught at R.J. Bailey for twelve years he is most remembered for his talent in teaching math and science, but says social studies is his great love. "It allows me to use literature as a key for teaching. It's my secret weapon." Mr. Adams is constantly busy out of school, taking college courses in science and helping Mr. Leviatin with the Varsity Soccer Team. "I have a lot, I just do a lot. I'm never just sitting at home doing nothing. There are times when I wish I could relax, but unfortunately that's not my nature, my nature is to get up and go!"

"Cute as a button . . ."

Mrs. Schleifer teaches three classes — typing, shorthand and her favorite business law. But her great love has nothing to do with school. Mrs. Schleifer loves pickles! That's right, she pickles cucumbers and loves "little curbies". For those of you who don't know the cucumber vernacular, curbies are short, fat, little, round cucumbers that are "cute as a button". Yes — Mrs. Schleifer pickles cucumbers "all over the place".

But wait, that's not all!! Mrs. Schleifer also loves frogs! She has a large collection of them, none of which are alive. "No, I can't say I don't love frogs that are alive, I like them very much!" But I'm sure her twelve year old cat, Sammy, loves them a lot more!!!

Bullwinkle Cartoons — This animated treat features that lovable moose, and his buddy through thick and thin — Rocky, the Flying Squirrel. Together they battle evil and save the world from the clutches of Natasha and Boris. In case waking at 8:00 am on Saturday is an imposition, you could always join the Bullwinkle Fan Club. Remember, the national President of this prestigious organization is a member at our very own high school!

Dynasty — America's #1 evening viewing. It's a soap opera which honored prime time with its presence. This is pure trash. The plot appears to be who can outswindle the next in the complicated Carrington Family Tree, while showing as much flesh as possible.

Mash — A true classic. This year marking the end of its series. With actors having real talent, the viewers are transported to wartime Korea, directly to the 4007 Mash Unit. Here we see the dark sides of war, but the bright spots of human nature making it seem very fearable amidst heart rendering situations and Alan Alda's commendable wit. We'll miss this one in the years to come.

Movies

E.T. — This lovable alien has invaded our hearts as well as our planet. This homely, but cute, extra terrestrial has become Hollywood's fastest rising star, as well as the blueprint for dolls, lunchboxes, and even video games! The movie is entertaining for both young and old . . . definitely something to PHONE HOME about!

An Officer and a Gentleman — This film is your typical "boy meets girl, boy loses girl, etc . . .", however, it is very involving, exciting, entertaining, and salivating!

Harry Harlow — an incredibly gripping saga about a rhesus monkey's search for identity. The acting is stupendous. Harry Harlow and his assistant are theatrical geniuses. The film explores the ultimate philosophical question: WIRE OR CLOTH MOTHER?

World Happenings

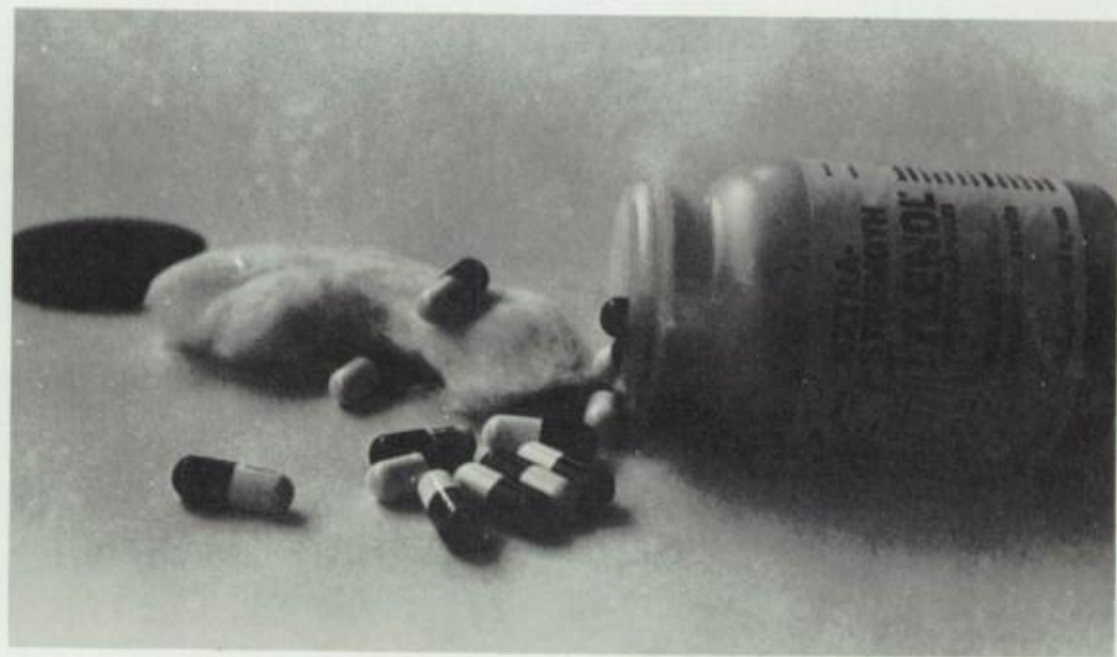

This year was a pretty turbulent one. I stress turbulent, so nobody mistakes it for tubular, y'k-know?

The sports headlines shocked us. The N.H.L. went U.S.F.L. and then proceeded to go on strike. While this occurred, many of the players admitted to intense cocaine use. Reggie Jackson became an Angel, but the Yankees went straight down to you-know-where. Ricky Henderson stole bases like they were going out of style, as Chris Evert Lloyd and Jimmy Connors showed us the style of age and experience by demolishing their teenybopper opponents, Andrea Jaeger and Tracy Austin, in the U.S. Open Finals.

Oh yes, then there was a national scare. Extra Strength Tylenol did more than just cure a few headaches. This started a series of "copy-cat" incidents — acid in Visine, poisoned Anacin, and pins and needles being found in candy and food — which produced a much quieter Halloween.

Although not due to cyanide in their aspirin, we also lost such talented personalities as Henry Fonda, John Belushi, Ingrid Bergmann and Murray the K, the D.J. of the 60's.

Steven Spielberg's "E.T." broke financial records while touching peoples' hearts at the same time. Children and adults flocked to the theatres to watch this adorable Reeses-Pieces eater struggle to phone home.

Economically, families which earned $10,000 or less in 1982 lost $140, but those choice few pulling in $80,000 or more received an $8,320 bonus. Because of budget cuts, food stamps were taken away from the poor, and school lunch appropriations were cut by $457 million. The title of this wonderful progress? Reagonomics.

Unemployment lines became increasingly longer. Reagan's solution — give them cheese. I wonder what HE ate for dinner last night?

In the Spring of 1982 Israel felt threatened by the P.L.O. in Lebanon and, in a bloody war, forced them to leave. A few days later, hundreds of Palestinian refugees were found brutally massacred. Who was responsible?

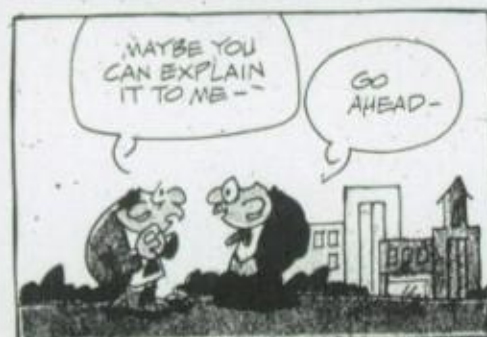

Also in 1982 the Argentines attempted, by force, to take back the Falkland Islands from the British. After 74 days of fighting, 912 men were left dead, along with many ships left sunk, and the British regained the Falklands.

The leader of the Soviet Union, Leonid Brezhnev, died after over a decade of rule. Andropov took control of the country with surprising quickness.

SMALL SOCIETY

The electronic age has arrived. In 1982, an estimated 3 million personal computers were sold for use in living rooms and classrooms. With the aid of special computers, Utah doctors implanted the first permanent artificial heart in a human.

And in space, the Columbia shuttle launched its first satellite into Earth's orbit. The United States has, once again, taken the lead in interplanetary space technology.

Pac Man munched his way from video games to a cartoon show of his own while Jane Fonda's newest cause is a set of exercises with which she tries to shape-up America through their television sets.

The Reverend Sun Myung Moon told a Federal court that he has met and chatted with Jesus, Moses, and Buddha. A month later, Moon married 2075 couples at one ceremony — a record.

The Reader's Digest stirred up controversy when they published a condensed version of the Bible, which contained 40% less text than the original. Perhaps God has less to say now!

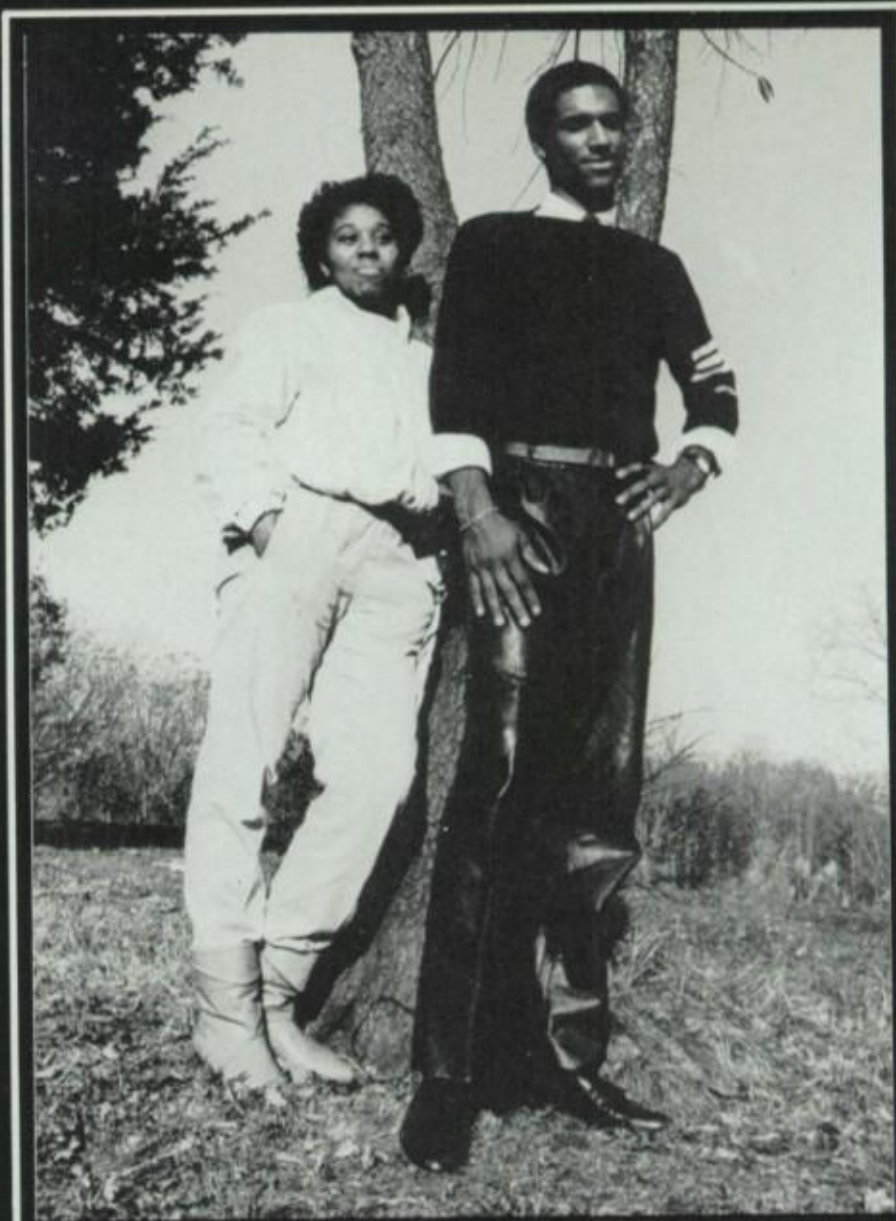

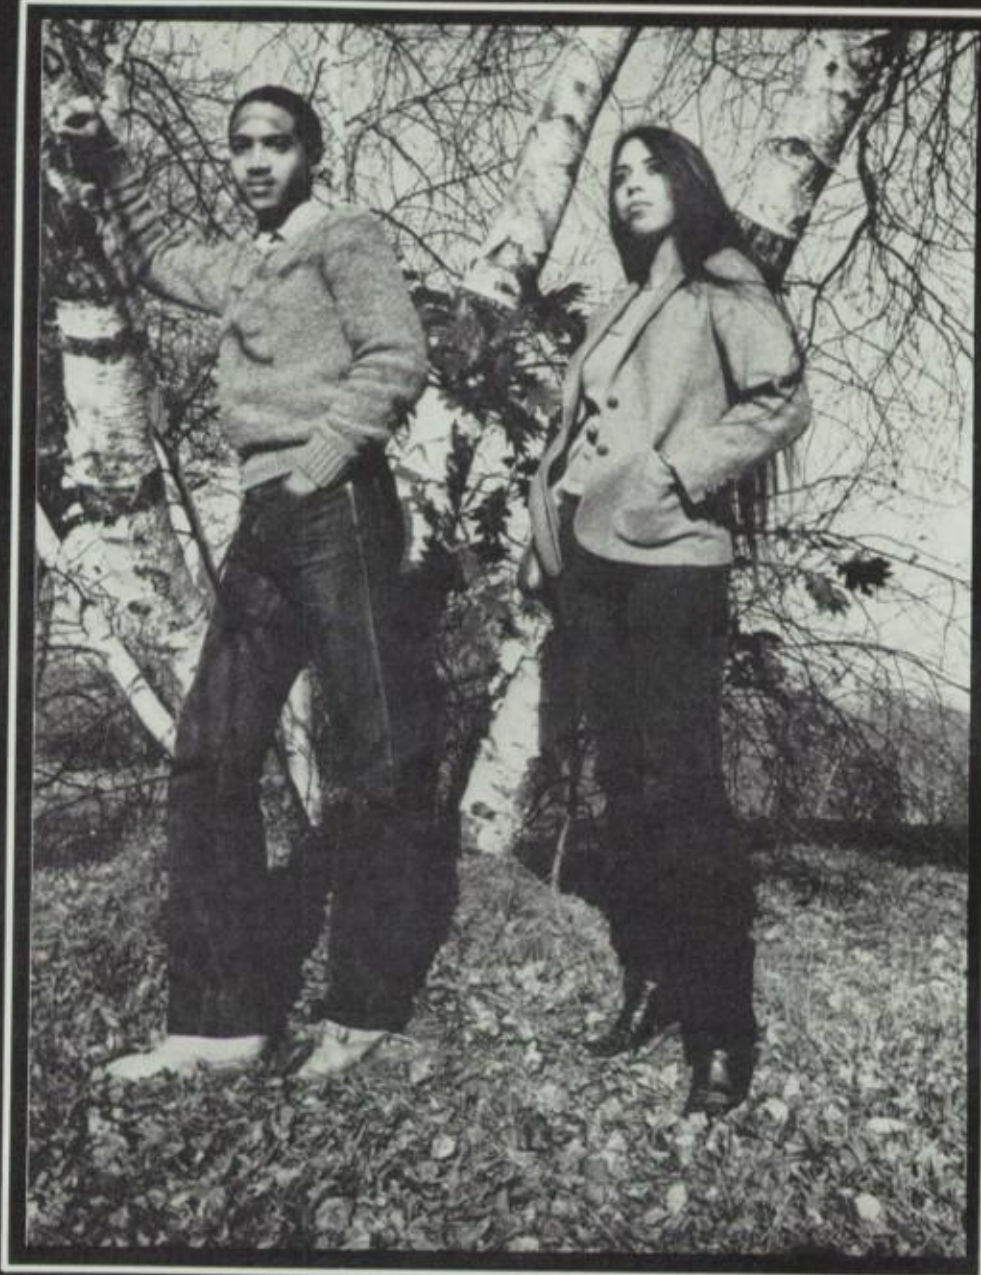

The fashion scene saw a lot of leather this year. Aside from the usual popularity of leather boots, we witnessed the trend of leather jackets and especially leather pants.

A new boot which premiered this season was the mid-shin style. This footwear comes in an assortment of colors and materials, ranging from leather, suede, or just plain rubber.

Also found on the foot were variations of the Capezio shoe — a flat leather shoe worn with anything. First popular in white, they appeared this year in navy blue and fire engine red.

At Woodlands, we also have the B-Boy. He is characterized as the guy with the sheepskin coat and hat, his buttoned neck adorned with numerous gold chains. Not to be forgotten are the brass belt buckles decorated with the name of the wearer. What a B-Boy is, exactly, is still a mystery, but Janus knows what they're wearing these days.

Preppiness never goes out of style. Chinos or jeans, topped with a sweater and tailored shirt will remain timeless. Men's fashion was significantly taken note of as the subscriptions to G.Q. (Gentleman's Quarterly) magazine rose, giving the fellas the male answer to Vogue.

Jockness too is still "in." Individuals clad in sweatpants, T-shirts and sneakers freely roam high school and college campus' enjoying the comfort and practicality of such a wardrobe.

One million people flooded the streets of New York City and Central Park on a beautiful June 12th day in 1982. "An ocean of people", it was later called, most of whom had come to express their sincere fears and concerns which have recently mounted concerning the question of nuclear armaments, and the use of nuclear power as an alternate source of energy altogether. Now, of course it would be asking a little too much to have a million people all in one place, at the same time to have the same common concern. Many had simply come for the anticipated thrill of the event, the beautiful day for a walk through the park, or the power and rythm of a line-up of famous speakers and musicians such as Coretta Scott King, Orson Wells, Bruce Springsteen, James Taylor and Family, Linda Ronstadt, and the conclusive reggae-rocking jam with Rita Marley and her band.

If anyplace in the world is fit for a rally, it's New York City. On a "normal" day in downtown Manhattan, one might see some "interesting" folk by our Westchester standards. But on this magical day, everyone was peaceful, loving and extremely interesting! The majority of the rally formed a procession, which took us downtown past the United Nations and back to Central Park. Here, hundreds of thousands of people congested the Great Lawn and the streets of Manhattan for almost the entire day. The June 12th Rally Committee, whose members were responsible for the entire day's events, arranged the procession in such a way so that the march was led by hundreds of children, then the 1000 Japanese victims of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, followed by thousands of people from all over the United States and the World. Each major group carried a banner displaying the organization to which they were affiliated and many wore appropriate dress to display their feelings about the nuclear question.

"Arms are for hugging"

"No nukes"

"One atomic bomb could"

in your whole day"

"Split wood, not atoms"

"Mushrooms are for quiches, not clouds"

For most, there was no question. Only a statement. The build-up of nuclear arsenal seems illogical and suicidal to many Americans, and yet our government and that of the other four major-power countries continues to do so. The June 12th rally was an enormous success and it demonstrated a revival of concern among Americans, for similar support demonstrations were held simultaneously around the nation. The turnout of Woodlands' students also contributed to this enormous display of concern and hope. Meeting that morning at the White Plains train station, we went down together to march under the banner of WESPAC (Westchester People's Action Coalition). Singing in the streets to John Lennon's, "Give Peace A Chance," Jeff Vaden, Scott Latzky, Michael Sarnotsky, Amy Jacobson, Kendahl Radcliffe, Stephanie Daniels, Matt Wynn, Jessica Buyers, Angelo Seda, Judy Hordes, Scott Ollinger, Jimmy Rosen, Lisa Radcliffe, Lisa Howse, and a few other students along with teachers such as Mr. Umland, Mr. Leviatin, Mr. Courtney and Mrs. Shawn from upstairs in the office, it was a tremendous day for all of us.

Perhaps it is, indeed, true that it is impossible to gather one million people all together for the same purpose and with the same feelings. However, the only feelings which we perceived on that day were those of peace, love, and hope. We can only pray that all peoples agree to end this game of selfishness and idiocy being played by the major-power governments of the world, and that we will all, some day, come together for peace.

— Eric Zolov

Music Scene

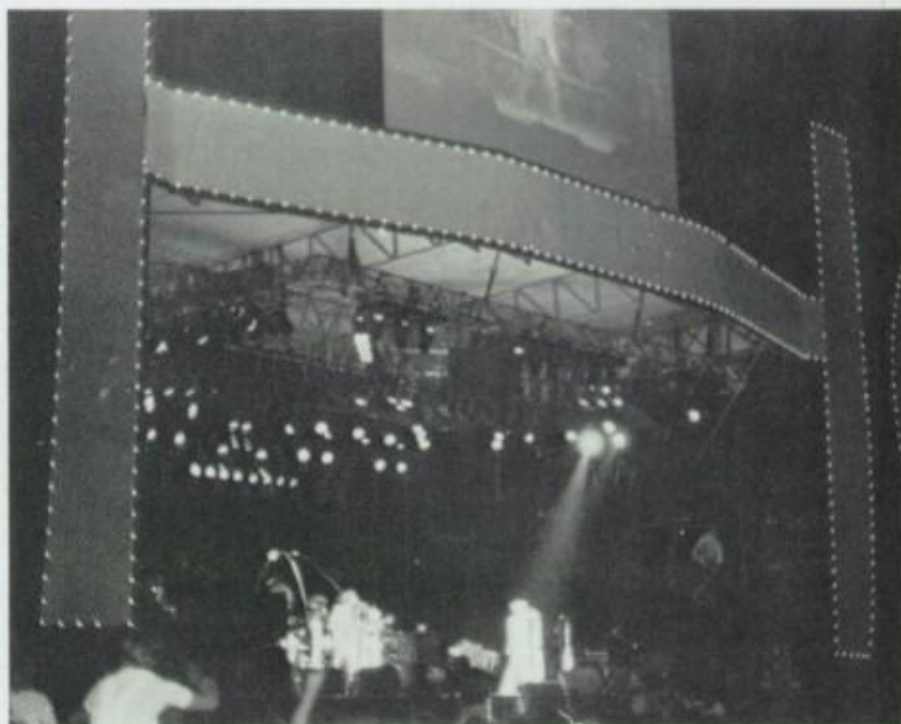

This year we witnessed many comings and goings in music. We welcomed new and exciting groups like Men At Work, The Stray Cats, Musical Youth and Missing Persons. We saw the reunion of classic groups — Simon & Garfunkel and Crosby, Stills, Nash and we bade a sweet farewell to the Doobie Brothers and (of course) The Who. We saw the breaking away of Genesis' Phil Collins (who told us not to hurry love), ex-Doobie Michael McDonald and Adam and the Ants', Adam Ant. We witnessed many fantastic new releases, Marvin Gaye — with a new remedy for us all, Pat Benatar — lurking in the shadows somewhere, and Michael Jackson — a real thriller!

This year we also saw a new age appear right before our eyes: The magic of music video. Many of us know this phenomenon as M-TV seen on channel 32 of your Cable box. So, while some of us watched Ozzy Osbourne biting the heads off of bats, other's were looking forward to seeing Pat Benatar fighting Nazi's or Squeeze drinking black coffee in bed.

We saw the coming of Soul Sonic's "Planet Rock" and heard a distinct message from Grandmaster Flash — "It's like a jungle sometimes it makes me wonder how I keep from going under . . ." Also witnessed was the new sound of comedy rock with Saturday Night's Eddie Murphy and Joe Piscopo.

John Cougar soared up the charts and brought Jack & Diane with him. The Clash had teenage America rockin' the Casbah. Olivia Newton John had a "heart-attack" from all that "getting physical" and, of course, Frank's daughter, Moon Zappa, started a nationwide craze . . . The Valley Girl — omigod, like — barf me out, gag me with a spoon, gag your face, grody to the max, like totally . . . fer sure . . . Joe Jackson had everyone steppin' out, Lionel Ritchie truly ate our hearts out, Chaka Khan had to be there to sing an old Jackson-5 classic and Kool and The Gang took us all out dancing.

Whether you listen to Paco, Jim Kerr, Bobby Lloyd, or Madame Mello, the music scene is alive and well at Woodlands High School!

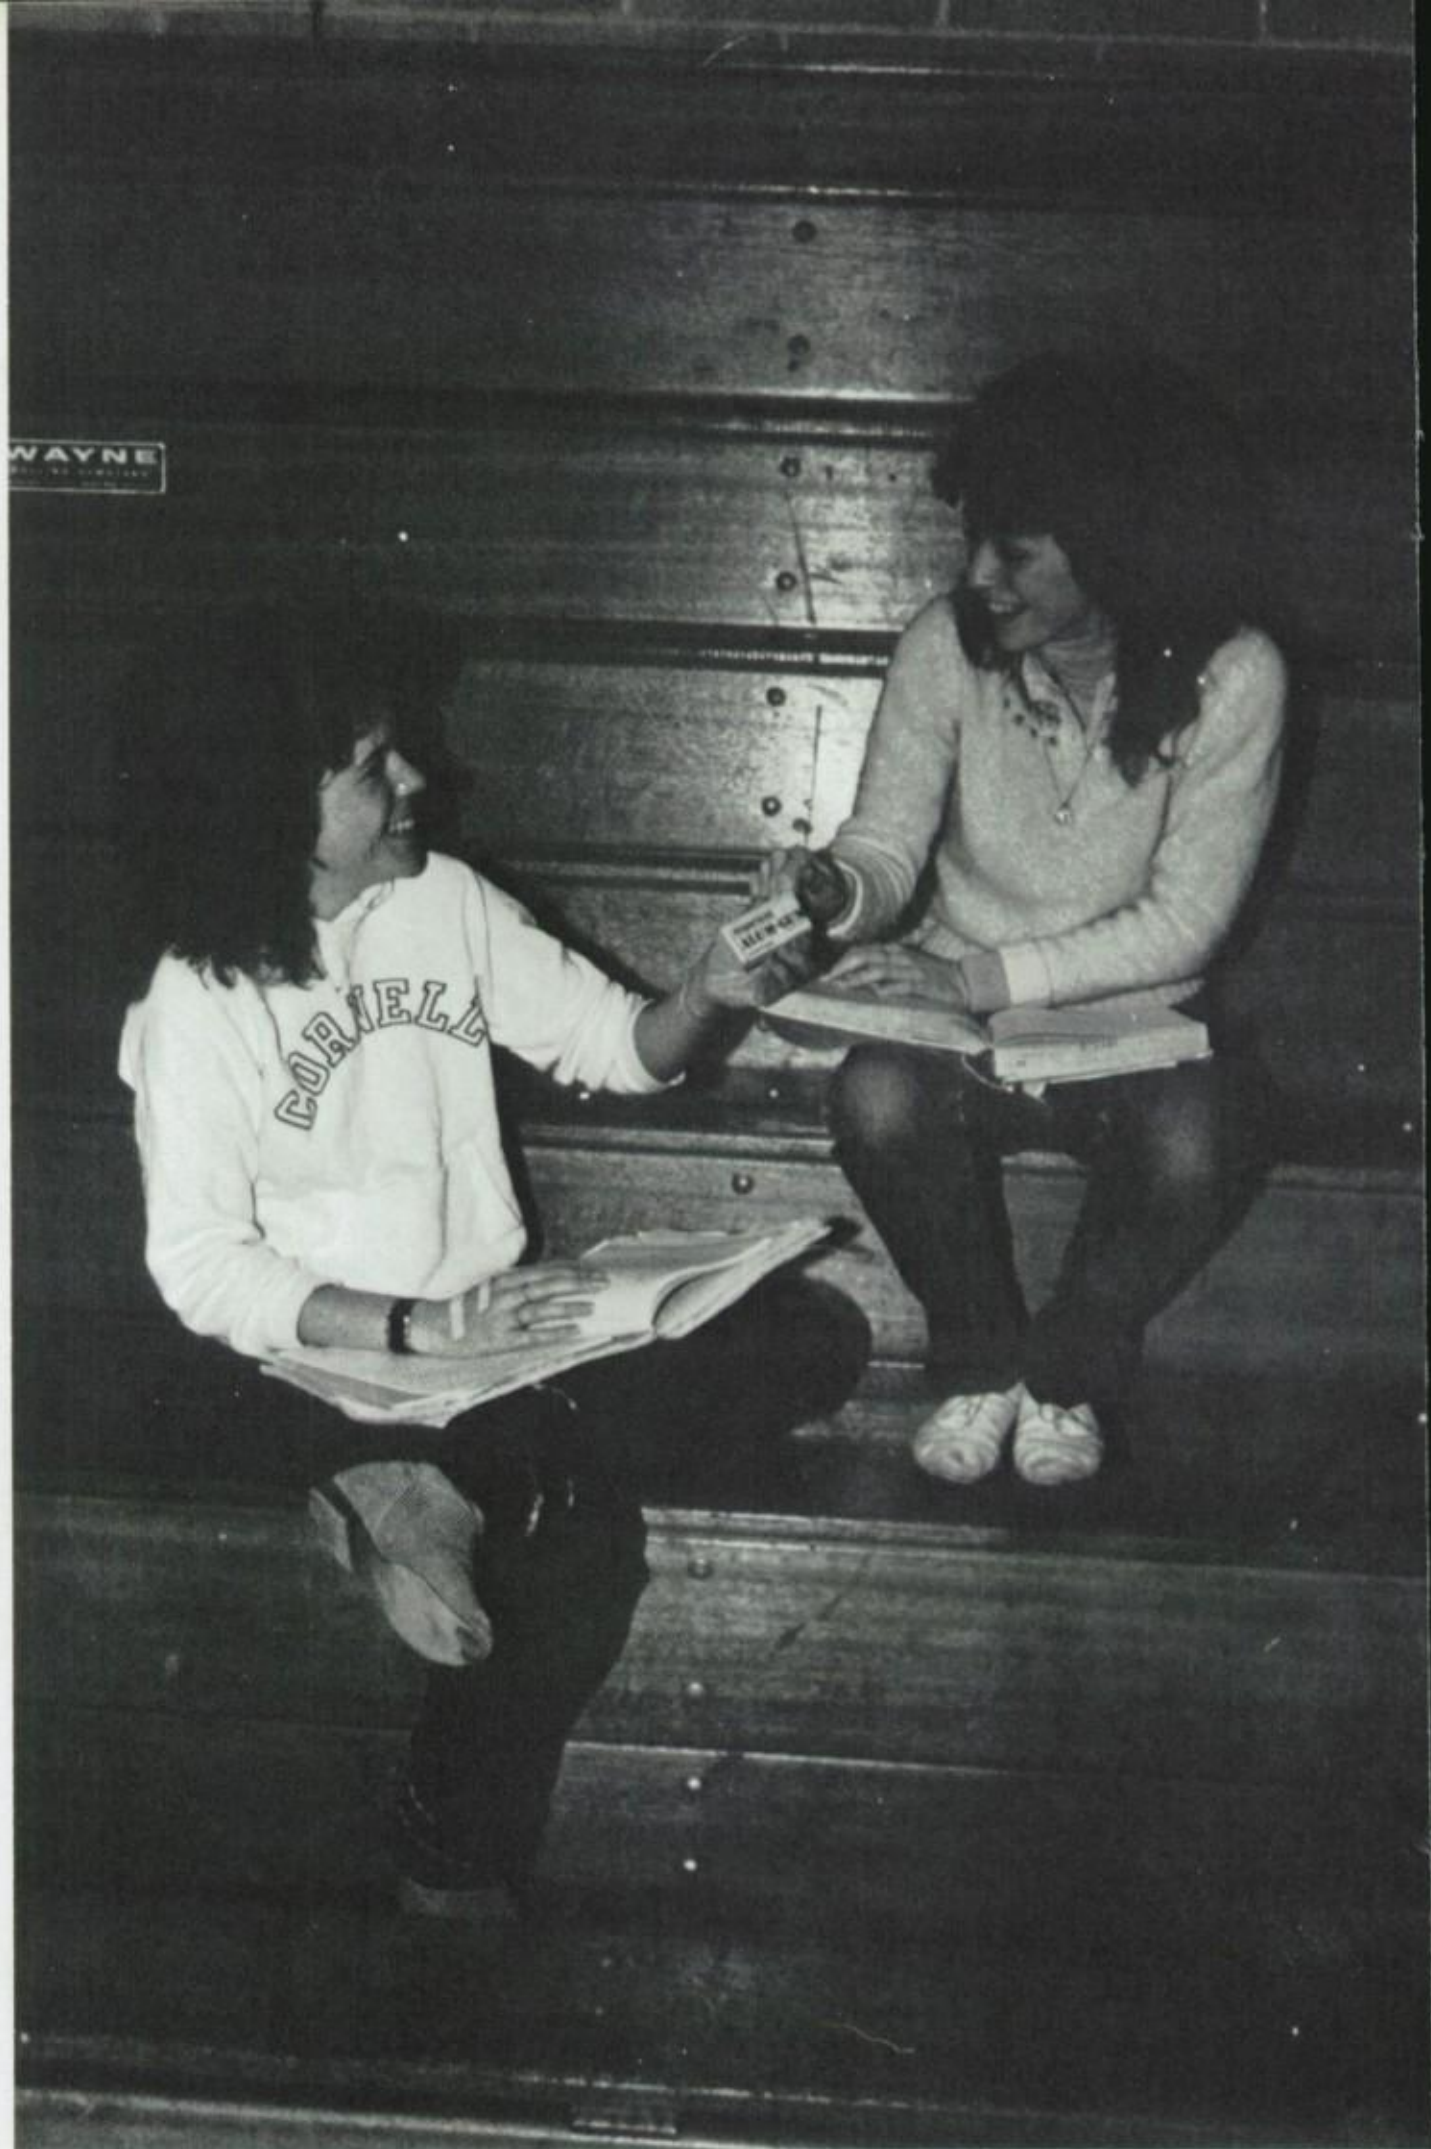

Woodlands High School possesses many unique qualities which sets it apart from other high schools. I think, however, that we would all be in agreement by our saying that this uniqueness stems from the character of the people at Woodlands. Among other things, Woodlands' students have designed an entirely new dialect of the English language. Although this dialect is most often reserved for on-campus use, we were able to secretly record a conversation between two students. Next to it is our version of a translation that might occur, well, let's just say somewhere up-river . . .

- A. Hey blood, wassup?
- B. Nothing much, just chillin' out.
- A. You check out the tube? Some rich babe got knocked-up.
- B. You mean that lady, Diane?
- A. Yeah, whatever. You know that brat's gonna be spoiled!
- B. That burns me up!
- A. And check this out. Some famous lady is six feet under now and everybody's makin' all kinds of noise about it.
- B. Oh, you mean Ingmor Bergdoff.
- A. Yeah, that's it! She sure was fine, man.
- B. Talk about fine, man. I be buggin' out when those babes wear them mini-skirts. Them some foxes!
- A. I hear you! And I be batting with my Yves Saint Laurent and G.Q. look. 'Specially down to 54. I be rockin' it!
- B. Yeah, Can I be down?
- A. Yeah, you know. You just best have some cash flow, we aren't talking no grubbing here!
- B. Yo, you got a square?
- A. Yeah, and let's take a burn to the Bronx. I want to cop some weed.
- B. Yeah, I'm down. But man, keep me away from that snow, John Belushi and my man Pryor sent my head spinning!
- A. Yeah, I hear that.
- B. Word.
- A. Let me split. I gotta bust out that homework I didn't do. We was gettin' down listening to Carol Miller and Frankie Crocker on my box. We partied up!
- B. All right, I'll check you out later. Take it light!
- A. Man, I'll take it any way I can get it!
- B. Word.

- A. Hi friend, what's happening?
- B. Not too much. I'm just doing the same old routine.
- A. Have you watched television lately? Princess Diane gave birth to a bouncing baby boy!
- B. Lady Diane?
- A. Yes. You're aware that that child will lead a financially secure life.
- B. That really angers me.
- A. Yes, and Ingrid Bergman just died, as well as Princess Grace. It was very upsetting, they were both stunning.
- B. Speaking about good-looking women! I have been finding it very difficult to concentrate on my work with all of those girls continuing to wear those very short skirts. They look very attractive!
- A. Yes, I know. I have been priding myself on my new Yves Saint Laurent pants and my designer jacket. I especially love wearing them to Studio 54. I usually have a phenomenal time.
- B. Oh really? May I come?
- A. Yes, you know that you're welcome. Just please, don't annoy me for any money. You'll need a substantial amount and my funds have been rather low, so I won't be able to lend you any.
- B. Do you have an extra cigarette?
- A. Surely, and would you mind taking a ride with me to the Bronx? I would like to buy a marijuana cigarette.
- B. Oh yes, I'd like that. I'll never do cocaine. John Belushi's death and Richard Pryor's accident literally scared me straight.
- A. I can understand that.
- B. I agree totally.
- A. Well, I'm going to leave now. I have got to do the homework I neglected to do last night. I was listening to two exceptionally good Disc Jockeys on my radio. I also did quite a bit of drinking in addition.
- B. O.K. well, I'll see you later. Take things as they come.
- A. Well, I hope that good things come my way!
- B. Amen.

Getting Psyched

Getting psyched is the mental preparation an athlete goes through before competition. Many people have different approaches to psyching themselves up, but most Woodlands athletes agree that it is an extremely important part of the game.

Says senior swimmer Ellen Sackelman, "getting psyched is the mental aspect of competition, it's mind over matter." Concentration is an important factor before competition. Steven Green, tri-captain of the soccer team, believes concentration is the key element to performance. Before a game Steven says "I like to listen to music and think about what I want to do in the game." Ellen says she doesn't concentrate too much before a meet, instead she sits by herself and "veg's." "I tell myself that I'll feel no pain even though I know in the back of my mind I'm lying."

Some athletes such as Kris Voight prefer to "keep to themselves before a game." Kris explains that although "a lot of the guys get rowdy before a game, I like to keep to myself for awhile and concentrate." Debbie Gaines agrees with this point of view. Before a game Debbie says she likes to be alone and "think about the areas of my game I have to work on."

Getting psyched is also a team effort. Many teams around school can be seen sporting their jerseys before a game. "It all adds to the positive attitude you need" states senior basketball player, Mark Shamley. "You have to get psyched before you play" Shamley adds. Before a game most athletes try to concentrate on the positive aspects of play that may follow. "You have to believe your gonna win" says senior wrestling captain and football player, Danny Recouper. Kris Voight agrees with this attitude. "If you really believe that you'll do well, chances are you'll succeed" he says.

Many games are lost because of the lack of mental preparation. Coach Leviatin often says that his players have the ability physically, but mental mistakes are often a critical factor. Concentration is the key to performance, and if the athlete is not prepared before competition the results are often disastrous. Debbie Gaines says "most of my lousy games are a result of my mental attitude, it's also each player's responsibility to get ready mentally because your performance effects the whole team."

Many teams get psyched up together for just that reason. If several players don't do well on any given day the team will usually lose. Therefore, on most teams the players seem to help each other out. Radios are sometimes used when the team stretches out, and cheers can usually be heard on the busride to the game.

Every athlete has a different definition of "getting psyched" but the goals are usually the same. The team's objective is to win, and "getting psyched" is an important step in winning.

Field Hockey

In early September I feared we would be a shadow of last year's team. But we made a championship team out of five seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, four freshmen and one eighth grader. "Are you a woman, a wimp, or a sissy?" "I am a woman!" and "we are young and we are proud." We also gave Mrs. Abramson a Somers' defeat (2-1), a Rye defeat (3-0), and second place in the Sectional season: I know I will never forget the awesome-foursome, the jivesome-fivesome, and the secret practices at Kings' College. We seniors would like to thank the team and Mrs. A. for making our last high school season a great one. As one petite, wise, curly-haired lady once said, "Some sports end after the season is over, but Field Hockey goes on forever." (T.A.)

Boys' Soccer

The Woodlands H.S. Boys' Soccer team finished its season this year with an excellent record of 12-5-1. This included wins over teams such as Rye (2-1) and two-time state champions Blind Brook (2-0). At one point the team was ranked second in the county. Led by the outstanding play of All-County selection, Diatemye Dessande, and All-County honorable mentions Stephen Bloch and Craig Forster, the Falcons dominated many opposing rivals. Some highlights of the season were four-goal games by Bloch and Bernard Dennis. Captain Stephen Busby's first goal ever against Eastchester. Two goals on one shot by Steve Green against Rye. Glenn Pinto deciding to cut his magic act and to reappear for the final few games, only to be ejected. Last, but not least, Coach Vic Leviatin set a new personal record for the least number of verbal assaults on his players.

Girls' Volleyball

This year's Varsity Volleyball team finished off it's winning season with a 10-6 record. It was a great season and we had a fantastic time playing. Even though our practices were strenuous at times, they were worth it. With a team of nine players: six seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore, we managed to get our act together and produced many victories. The advantage of having a small team was that everyone was able to play more. What we lacked in quantity, we gained in quality. We had the skills, however at times, we were either "too psyched", or we just couldn't get our act together.

Our captain this year was Laura Roth. She was one of our best servers and spikers, along with Marie Lynn Ferrer, who was September Athlete-Of-The-Month. Randi Ginsberg, Dana Bryant, and Nicole Anderson focused their attention on serving and spiking as well.

Girls' Swimming

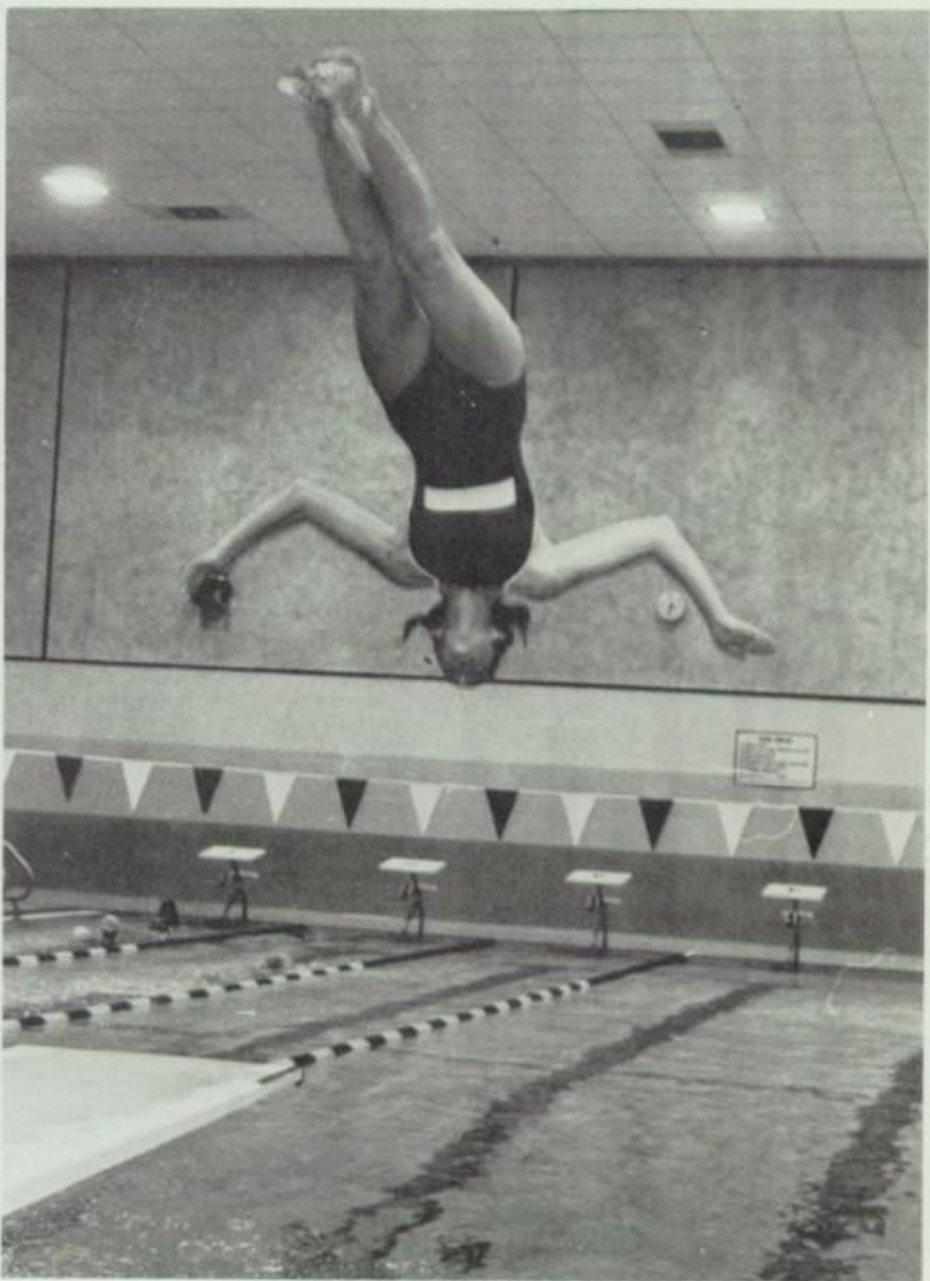

A new team joined the Woodlands' Fall Sports Program this year, the Girls' Swim team. As a young team, we had a mediocre record of 3-6, but we showed amazing promise, and opened the eyes of neighboring schools by placing Ellen Sackelman on the All-County Roster and by having Leslie Sackelman and Nancy Schoonmaker receive All-County Honorable Mention Honors. We had an incredible psyche, which led some of the schools to believe we were a little looney. Four of us would meet in the hallways and yell 'The Team!' Then there were the captains, they'd put their thumbs together and say 'Thumb Power!' and suddenly they were juiced to win! We were the only team in the County who sang to Grand Master Flash and were Reeses addicts. But whatever we did, and however we did it, the Girls' Swim team had a very enjoyable season.

Football

Two weeks before school started, the Football Team was working-out twice a day under the hot August sun. Though they worked hard, no one complained. Expectations ran high, a feeling of unity pervaded the team. The season then arrived, only to bring disaster. Although they lost their first game by a large score, they really didn't play all that badly. The second game was lost by a closer margin, but it was a game they should have won. By the third game the team had totally fallen apart, getting blown out by a neighboring rival. At this point the team was in chaos. Players' tempers were running high, the coaches were upset, and the general attitude was to "Throw the towel in." But they held together. That week they played a tremendous game, only to fall short in the final seconds. Although the game was lost, the players proved to themselves that they could play against even the best of teams. By the seventh week, everyone's spirits were running high. Since they had lost their first four games, they knew that they couldn't win the Conference Championship, they were now playing for their pride. And play they did, beating the best team in the division. Over all, it was a bad start and a tremendous ending, making an exciting season for both the school and the team.

This is your captain speaking ... 1982 was our best season in years, finishing with 5 wins and seven losses. Oh, those fun workouts to the dam and back! Those Brewster Girls (way to go Ash!). There was Sham and Deekos and Hedley running strong.

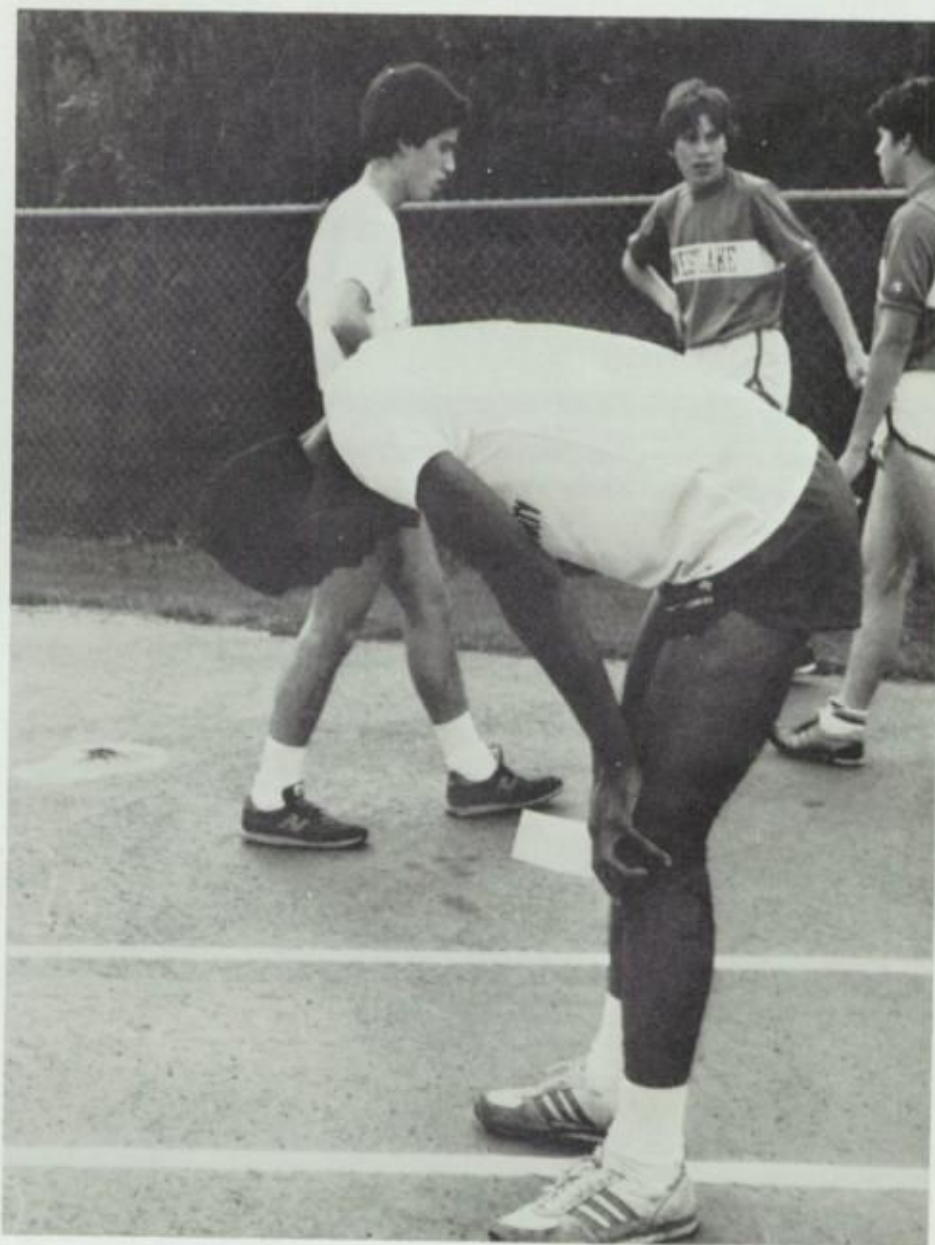

The J.V. was a magnificent six wins and two losses, even though Robert and Jason were off-the-wall. "We were always waiting for Greta even though Frank was shorter." (Mark). The workouts ranged from climbing Joan Ave., to pyramids, L.S.D., and Olympic Butts-Up. It was a great year. ... over and out '82 ...

Homecoming

Close, But No Cigar

We've heard it all before, "Nice try kid, close, but no cigar." To an athlete that means one thing: Defeat. "What hurts the most is when we have been winning throughout the entire meet and then lose because of someone who doesn't work and goofs off" says Nancy Schoonmaker, Swim Team captain. In swimming, defeat may mean losing by a fraction of a second. However, in soccer each goal is precious, says Steven Green, captain of the Soccer Team, "you feel like crying."

The reactions are the same anywhere you look. Angry, upset, shocked, that same helpless feeling inside because you say to yourself, "If only I had . . ." but now it's too late and you don't know what to do. Mike Biagini says about the Sleepy Hollow game, "When the ball went off my hands and into the net, I felt like killing myself."

A more optimistic viewpoint was expressed by Field Hockey player, Deborah Washington, about the finals against Somers, "I was disappointed for about five minutes, then I realized what a great season we had." It would be nice if we could all feel that way, unfortunately, however, not everyone expresses such a positive attitude. As Ice Hockey captain, James Steidl put it, "The team reaction as a whole is usually to try and make excuses for their loss."

However, when all of the available excuses have been exhausted, what else can one say? In such an instance, Kris Voight seems to have the perfect remedy, "All you can do is look forward until next year." Mrs. Andrews, the Gymnastics coach, provides some soothing words of wisdom for her athletes, "You shouldn't feel badly, just as long as you know that you did your best."

Well, with all that we have heard and observed from various athletes at Woodlands High School, our final words are "A cigar in the hand is worth two in the net."

We gave it our best effort and we worked as hard as we could. We won our first and last matches but in the middle, well . . . Although we ended our season with a 2-13 record, but hey, we had a great time and did we party on the way home from our final match!

Boys' Basketball

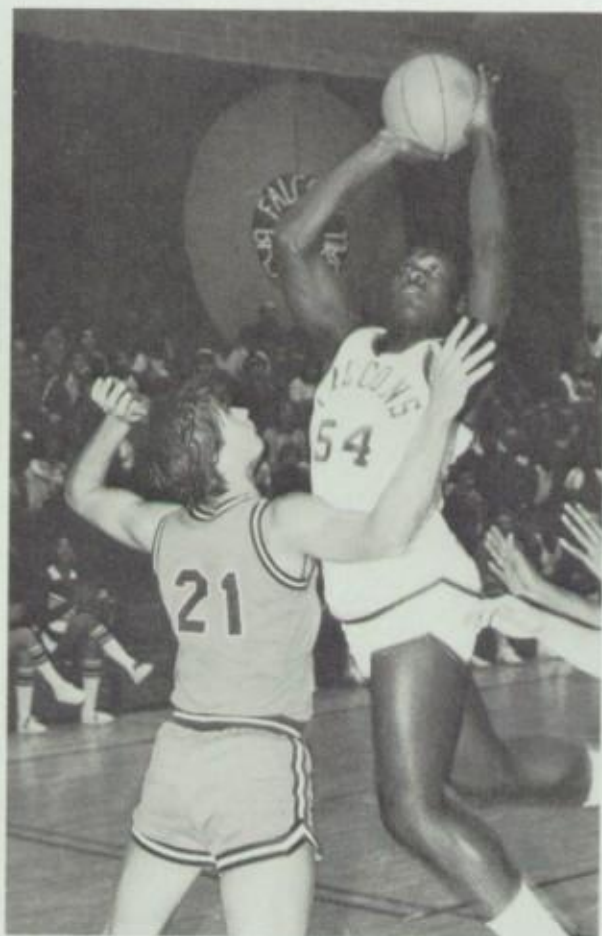

The Woodlands High School Varsity Basketball team had one of the most explosive seasons in the school's history. The Falcons were able to score numerous points in a matter of seconds. The team was composed of players who complimented each other beautifully. Led by their starting five, all seniors, the Falcons compiled another great record. The Falcons were led by their field general Robert Tilford, who tantalized the crowd with thrashing moves to the basket. At the pivot, Mark Shamley was a dominant force on defense as well as master of the inside game. Kenny "Mutz" Nesmith was the total player; he did everything well and possessed a jump shot that is feared in six continents (Antarctica does not have a team.) Kris Voight was the most consistent player on the team, always playing hard-nosed defense and hitting the clutch shot. Baffling opposing players with his crisp passes was Horace Madison. Sixth man, Bernie Dennis was a deft ball-handler who could penetrate the defense. Barry Nembhardt was called upon to help on the boards with his great rebounding ability. Two promising juniors, Andrew Dicker and John Mosley showed impressive skills. David "Boogens" Bell and Jeff Gibson pleased the fans with late-game heroics to hold down the opposing team. B.J. Manjon contributed to the team's success. Overall, the Falcons possessed one of the greatest arsenals of talent ever assembled on the same Basketball court.

Girls' Basketball

At the beginning of the 1982-83 season there was no nervousness or shyness because the season had really started a full year before. This year, there was only one addition to the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team; the other eight girls had all seen action on last year's varsity squad. As we lined up to start the tiring exercises and hard drills, our coach, Mrs. Madison quietly pointed to the banners. "I want one of those this year!" she said. Everyone grinned, "Don't worry Maddie, we'll get you one!" Practices began. They were hard and time consuming but when we got to the games, we found that they had been worth every effort. Beating several teams by more than 40 points, one coach summed it up well, "The Woodlands Girls' Basketball Team has come of age." Through the diligent efforts of nine vivacious girls, this year's record was 200% more successful than those of the past few seasons.

Boys'/Girls' Track

Under the leadership of new, first-year head coach, John Miller, the Boys' Track team accomplished many great feats during the first half of their indoor season. The Falcons participated in the Coaches and Officials Relay Championships, the Class B League Championships, the Cardinal Hayes Games, and the Coaches and Officials Open Championships. At the Coaches and Officials Relay, held at the County Center, the Falcons captured the Class C title for the second year in a row. At the league meet, senior Mark Taylor captured all-league honors and joined senior Todd Durant, junior Jot Dessande, and 8th grader Chris Durant who did the same. Rodney Patterson captured all-league honors in the 300 yd. dash and was joined by Leonard Gill, Dilto Dessande, and Chris Durant. Records were broken and many goals were accomplished and although four will be lost to graduation, with hard work and dedication, next year will be another successful one for the Falcons.

Who said girls can't run? Well, the Woodlands Girls' Track team proved them wrong. Under the strong leadership of first-year coach, Toni Abramson, we were "totally awesome." Although the team was very small, the other schools always met their match. Senior trackster Lisa Johnson is a prime example of the dominating powers of the team. She owns the 40 yrd. dash, and broke a meet record in the 300 yrd. dash. Captains Lisa Radcliffe and Dele Fayemi, both juniors, also demonstrated their awesome abilities. It's sheer artistry when you watch Lisa take command on the 40 yrd. hurdles, and Dele always shows her outstanding talent, especially in the high jump. These three are joined by freshman sensations, Deborah Milbauer and Lori Green. Lillian Chou and Randi Handwerger, sophomores, and Tracey Adams, Amy Falk, Bonnie Malkin and Little Yolanda Moody are all key members who put their hearts into whatever they do. Hey, I say girls can run and believe me . . . you ain't seen nothin' yet!

— Lisa Radcliffe

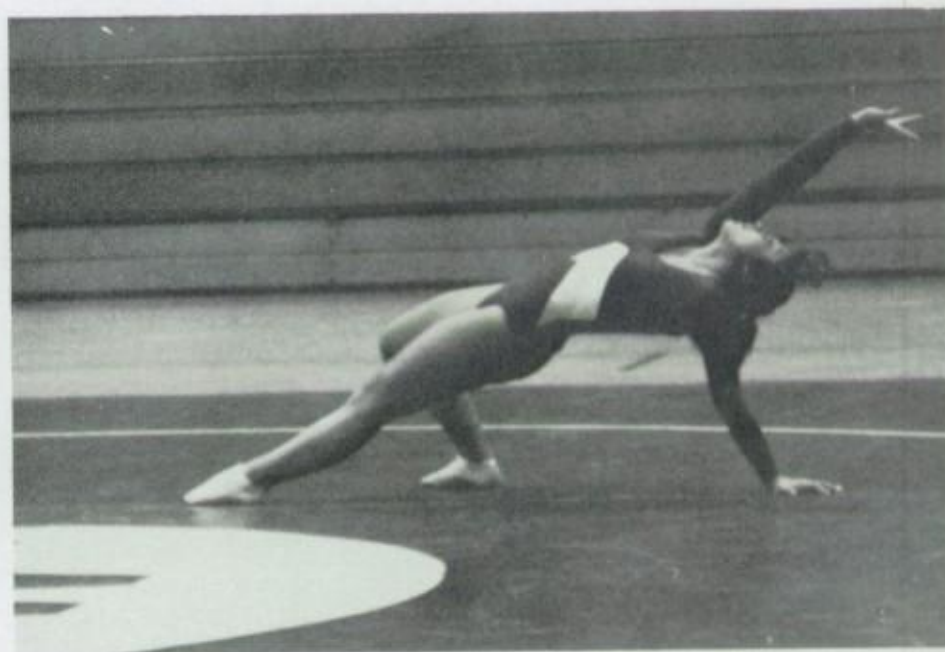

Gymnastics

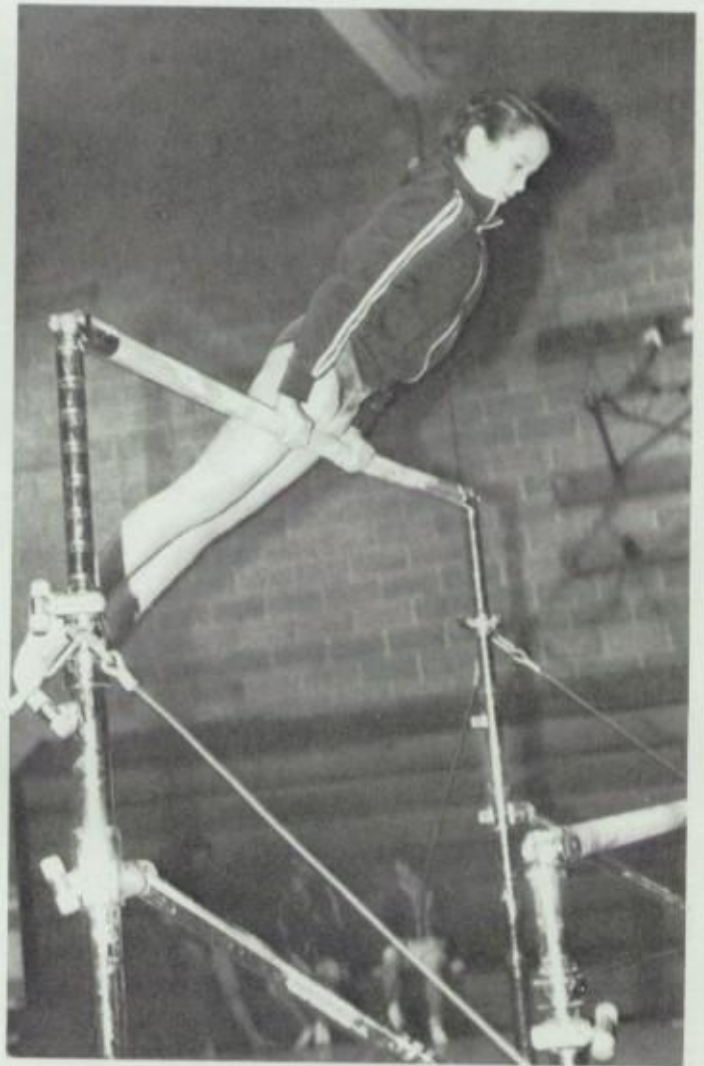

What a year for gymnastics . . . We may not be the W.H.S. Basketball team, but we try! Remember all those torn muscles, bloody ribs, itchy leotards, tears and smiles? "Mrs. Andrews, you can come out of the bathroom, beam is over." The relief of picking your wedgie after a floor routine. Wedges and diet soda from Varvaro's Deli. Fake smiles for the judges. Vaulting through the horse and landing off the mat. Blue briefs under a green leotard. Good-bye and good luck Shirley, Sue and Kate — we'll miss you!

Wrestling

The W.H.S. Wrestling Team may not be getting the respect that it deserves. Few people realize that wrestling involves more than simply trying to pin down an opponent. Although this is the ultimate goal of every wrestler, it is in the preparation leading up to this goal in which the real effort lies. When a wrestler is asked what the most necessary aspect of any true wrestler is, discipline is the first word that comes into his mind. The discipline to practice six days a week, and sometimes seven if there's a meet on Monday. The discipline to run two to three miles daily, and the discipline to eat by special diets in a continuous effort to maintain one's weight. "Most wrestlers only eat two meals a day, a little bit for breakfast and some meat and a few vegetables for dinner. If you want to eat some pizza, you can't" says team captain, Danny Recouper. It is felt by most wrestlers that because of these many sacrifices that they are required to make in their daily routine that Wrestling is, indeed, the most difficult sport for a high school male athlete to participate in. But the word, discipline, places no fear in the eyes of Woodlands' Wrestlers. In fact, it's mentioning only aids in the arousal of those inner energies which helps to make our team quite spectacular.

Ice Hockey

The 1982-83 Varsity Ice Hockey team, under the determined and dedicated guidance of its coach John Rostawanik and his new assistant, Chip Getter, experienced their most productive season in its short but impressive history. From the opening cheer to the final handshakes this year's Varsity was a cohesive unit. The 1982-83 season was the Varsity's best season ever. Despite the many injuries, the team's hard work and dedication culminated in another winning season. Captain Jamie Steidl, broken collar bone and all, encouraged and worked well with the team throughout the long practices, and his voice of encouragement was a constant reminder during the games. The team's outstanding offense is led by All County Center Pat Smith and Freshman Leigh Abramson. The strong defensive unit led by Seniors Michael Zimmerman, Jamie Steidl, Jeff Silverman and Junior John Garnsey, combined with Goalie Jim Brunner's steady and always excellent performances have been the key to the Falcon's success this season. — Jeffrey Stern

Boys' Swimming

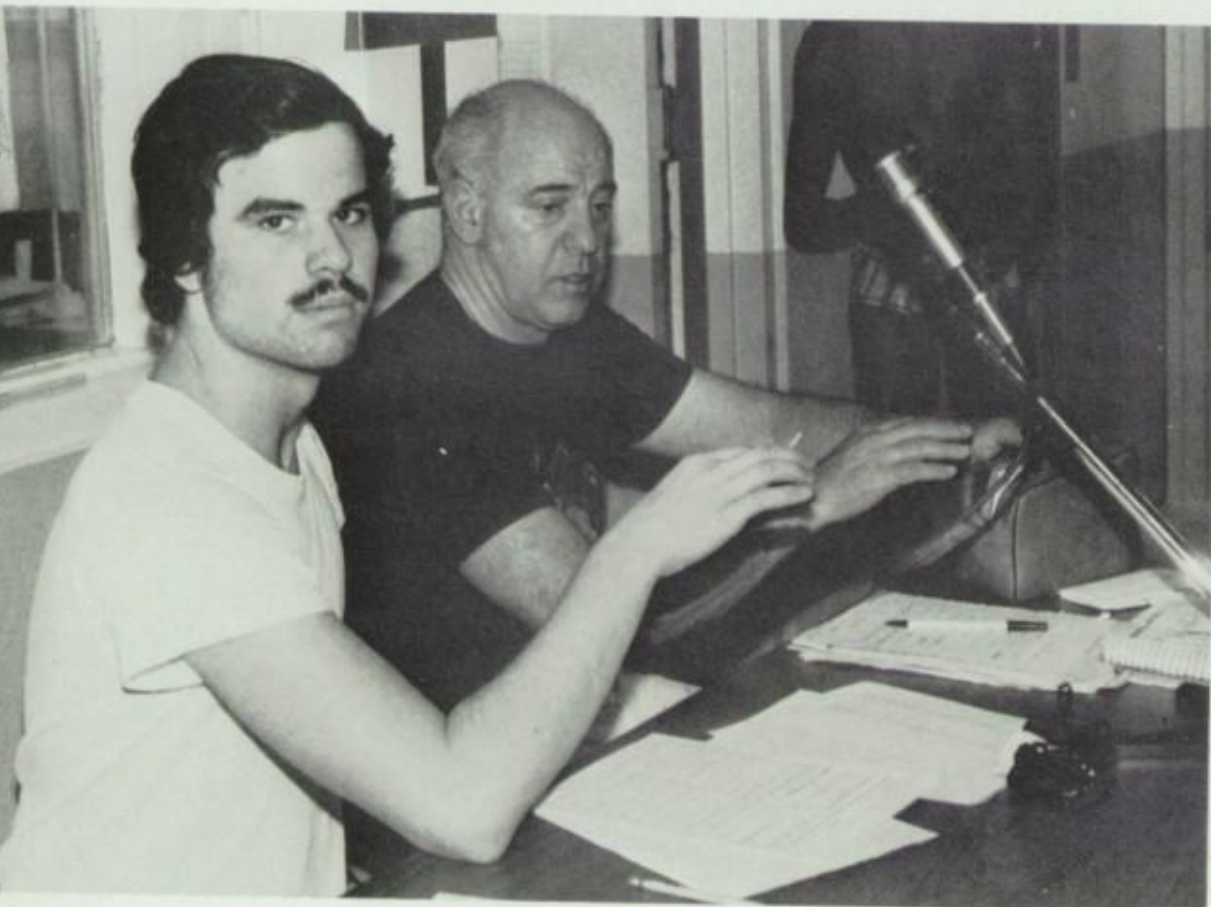

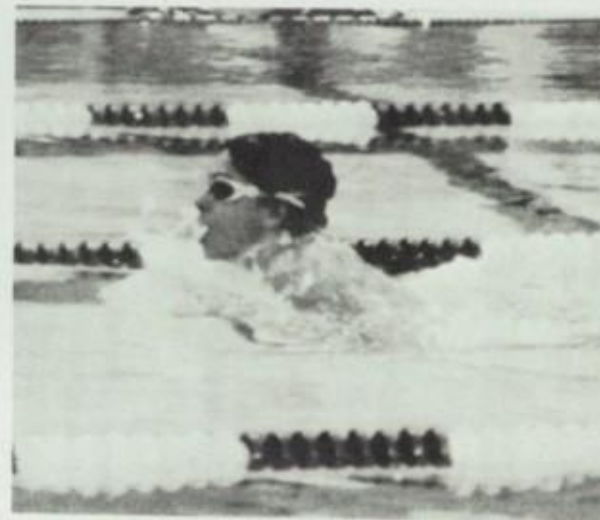

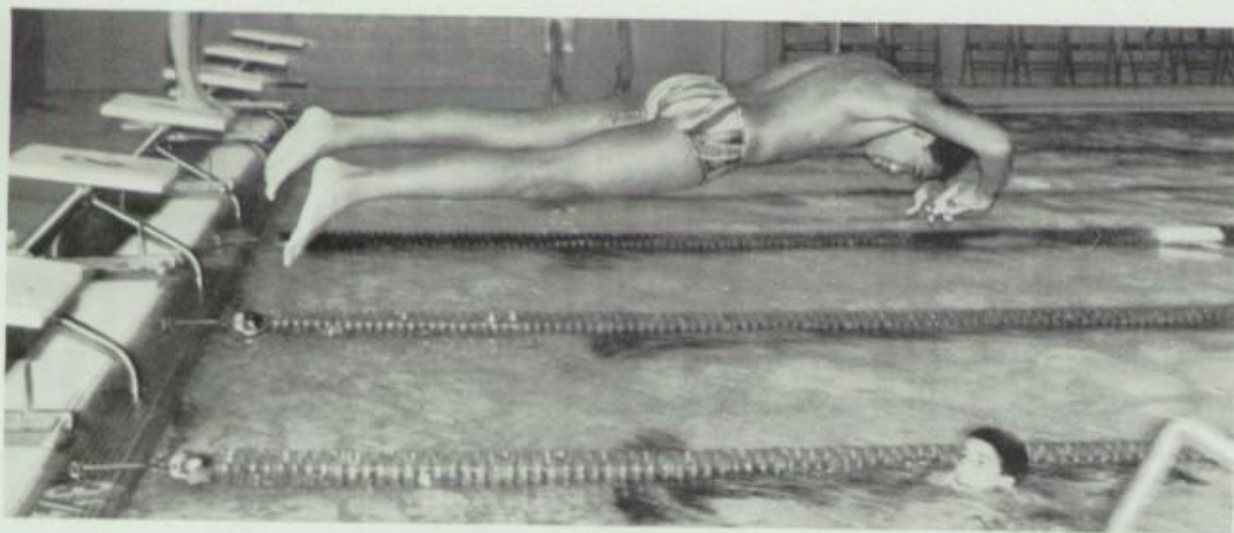

Mr. Ted Strauss, coach of the Boys' Swim team, with the aid of Jenine Ferreri, manager, has put together a team that should be recognized for its excellent performance this year. For the first time in its history, it seems as if the team will end the season with a record of over .500. The three captains, David Ramirez, a senior who swims the butterfly; Anthony Vaccarro, a senior who swims the backstroke, breaststroke and freestyle; and Peter Levin, a junior, who swims the breaststroke, all showed a lot of team spirit and excellent leadership qualities. The rest of the team is comprised of a variety of excellent swimmers ranging from Marc Soloman, a senior who swims freestyle, to Toyin Fayemi and Neil Chambers, two seventh graders who also compete. Although the team is quite young, they are battling for first place in the C division. Congratulations on an excellent season!

Cheerleading

Yes. Cheerleading is a sport. They practice just about every day after school. They work-out to keep themselves in shape. Cheerleading involves strenuous exercises such as: difficult splits, leaps, and jumps. Timing is also very important. Cheerleaders make many of the same sacrifices that other athletes do, especially in their diets. Schoolwork is a major priority; if grades drop, then they are cut from the team. Cheerleading brings about the same emotions that football and basketball players feel, "Victory." Their cheers reflect this emotion. Their team spirit, effort, and pride prove that cheerleading is, indeed, a sport.

Practices

The glory of the game is something that all athletes love to experience, but what about the pain of the practices? For the fall athletes, starting in late August; for the winter athletes, those cold afternoons and no chance to catch a breath after the fall athletic season; for the spring athletes, trying to juggle practices and studying for finals. All of this calls for real endurance and self-discipline.

Well, athletes learn quickly how much work must go into their sports. At least two hours are spent every weekday practicing, instead of going home to raid the fridge, fridge, talk on the phone, play Pac Man, or watch the soaps. How many people have used the term, "dumb jock"? How many of these same people have ever experienced a two hour practice? Anyone would discover after just fifteen minutes that a lot more than a physically fit body is needed for practice. For many athletes, practices consist of memorizing plays, combinations, or signals.

On the practice field, there are no stars. For the most part, there are hard workers willing to sweat it out. The glory of the game is great, but not for everybody. Anyone can have a bad day, and sometimes, someone will shine in a game, who never works hard in practices at all. It doesn't seem worth it at times. Who cares about character? Right? Wrong. It is worth it. Those athletes who spend a whole game on the bench are not missing out if they give the practices their best, because without them and without the practices, there never would be any glorious games.

Girls Softball

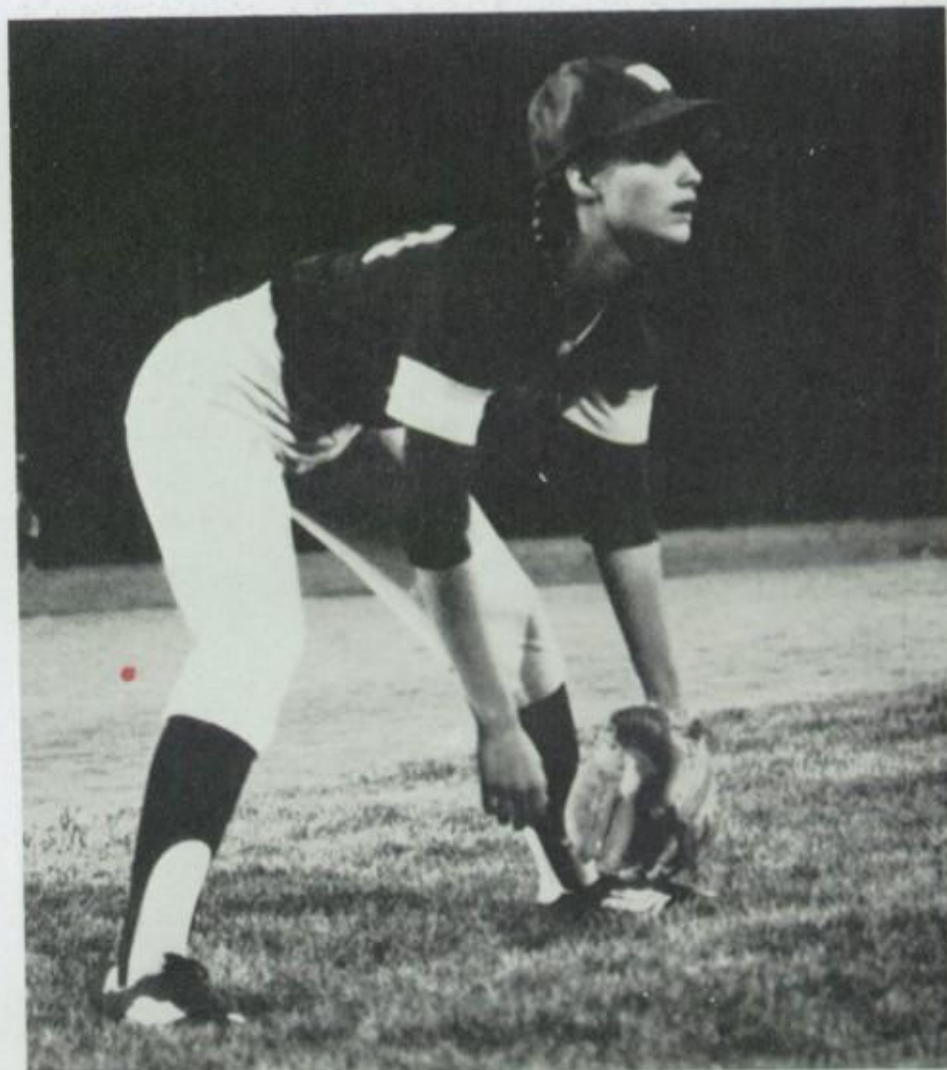

Well, we finally made it to the sectionals. Not just one win, as in the two previous seasons, but with over a .500 record. "Woodlands Softball Team?" you ask yourself. "Are you sure?" Yes, very sure. We beat Ardsley in the first game of the sectionals, and gave Portchester, with an 18-0 record, a run for their money in the second game of the sectionals. I guess that all of those drills in batting, throwing and sliding finally paid off.

Mrs. Plath and Mrs. Moloney: you got your wish last year. Do you think we can do it again this year? I hope so. I found out that winning is much more fun than losing. I only found that out last season, but better late than never, right? We never did make it to the county or state games, but maybe this year . . .

Girls Soccer

What do you do when you want to play soccer, but your school doesn't have a team for you to play on? Well, you can always do what 14 girls did two years ago. We got Mr. Leviatin, the reknowned coach of the boys' soccer team to coach us as a club team. The result: last year for the first time in Woodlands' history, a girls' varsity soccer team (in our own uniforms) walked onto the field. We surprised the league coaches with our quickly improving skills, and the high point in our season came when we beat Ardsley, a veteran varsity team who had beaten us previously in the season. So when you're looking for excitement, watch the girls' soccer team as we steadily become what might be one of the most spectacular teams in Woodlands' history.

Boy's Tennis

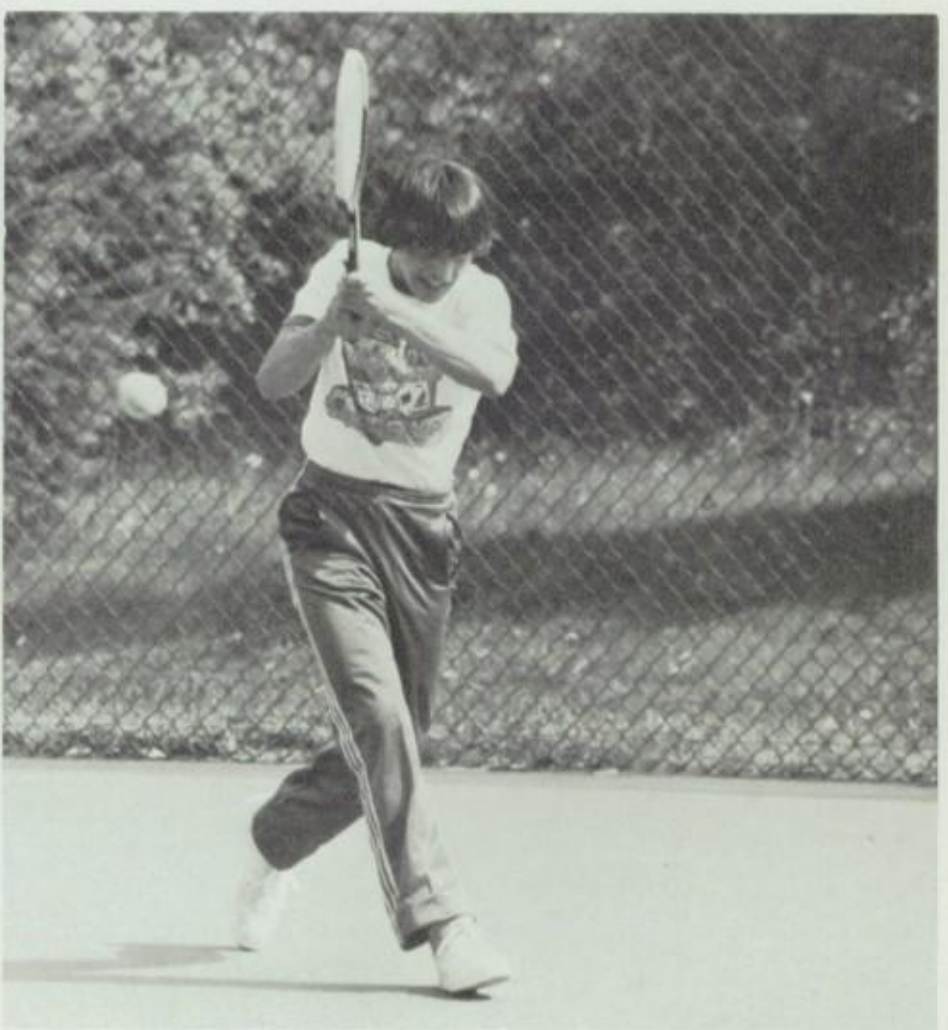

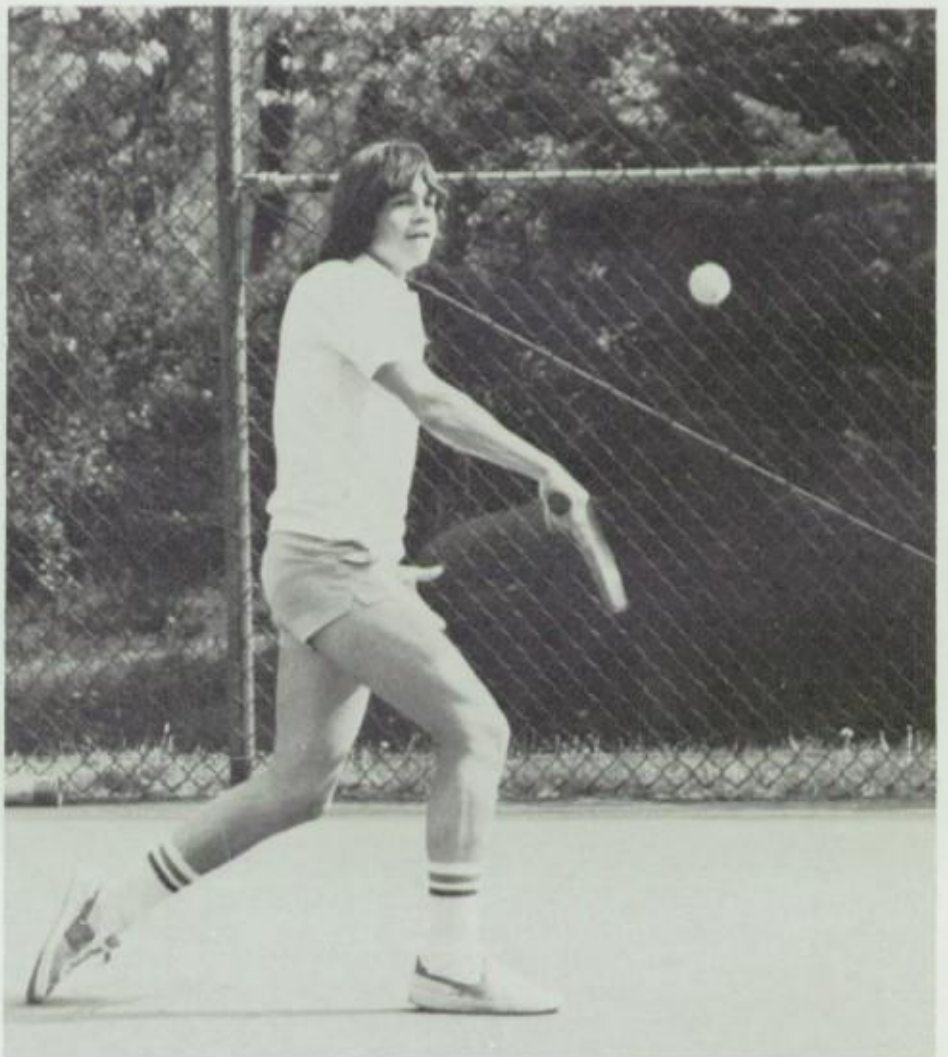

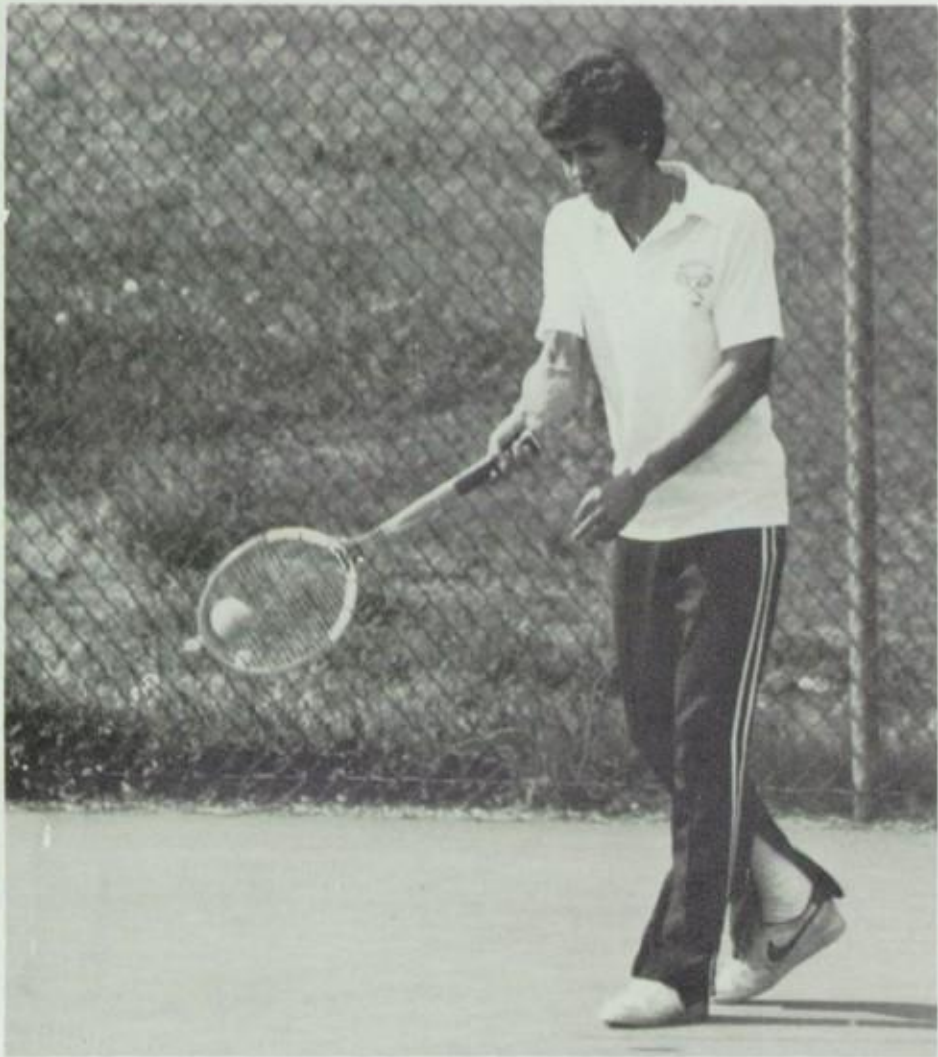

We must admit that the season didn't start off with a bang. The veteran team members were upset about the sudden loss of our coach, Mike Delval. But we managed to get over it and started to play some serious tennis under the supervision of our new coach, June Marcus. The team itself was basically very young, only about one-half of us were previous team members although much of our strength came from the new members. We ended the season with a respectable 9-5 record and the upcoming season looks hopeful.

Baseball

Last year's Baseball season was filled with a lot of fun and memories. The Falcons improved their previous record by winning two more games and losing one less. The Falcons got off to a good early season, going 3-1 in their first four games. However, the loss of players to injury and for other reasons, caused the Falcons to play with barely a fielding team. The latter half of the season, although it did not produce many victories, did lay the foundation for a strong team for this year.

Student Activities

What's special about Woodlands? The students! There is a diversity as varied as the extracurricular activities they get involved in. This year, students continued traditions and brought new ideas into the school. It has been a festive year filled with the activities of our many clubs and organizations.

According to Ted Arin and Nick Ciotola, directors of the Student Activities Program at Woodlands, attendance has improved because of the program provided. "Students are coming to school more often because they know that they have a club meeting to attend." Mr. Arin and Mr. Ciotola have been very enthusiastic about their program throughout the year, and have felt that student participation has been on the uprise. The only limitations which they have felt as directors were "... a lack of time to handle the responsibilities and a lack of money to provide the necessities for the program."

Although money has been tight and can't be spent freely, they felt that the clubs "... have done a fantastic job of raising funds for their individual programs." Mr. Ciotola also stated, however, that "... it becomes embarrassing to tell a club president that even though you've been able to provide transportation to his annual convention for many years, this year he'll have to come up with the money himself." He was referring to the problems which the Key Club have faced this past year in attending their annual convention at the Pines Hotel in upstate New York.

The Student Activities Office, located behind the showcase in the Commons, has become quite a "hot spot" this year. "It's great! The office has become more active than ever," remarked Mr. Arin. "Students have begun to spend a lot of time in the office answering the phone and helping to run errands. Students feel very comfortable staying here and they're a big help to us."

Making school more enjoyable is what motivates Woodlands' students in various organizations. The Woodlands Student Assembly, Key Club and Exploratory Business Careers Club lead the school in this endeavor. Assemblies and lecture series, made available through these clubs, add a new dimension onto learning. Student activities are encouraged with the possibility of forming new clubs, such as the Orienteering Club and Ambassadors Club. Citizenship is also practiced through real voting machines provided by the Woodlands Student Assembly for their school-wide elections.

Woodlands is a special place. It is a community within a community; housing a wide variety of student activities. A good rapport between students and staff and a sense of unity has been achieved through these activities.

Ambassadors Club

The Ambassadors Club is a newly formed club this 1982-1983 school year. The advisor is Lois Lowsky. The club is for people who are interested in doing detailed research on certain Third World countries, keeping in mind the possibility of an educational trip next year. If a trip option should occur next year, the members of the group for the trip would feed from the Ambassadors Club. The main areas of study are Russia, and some countries in South America.

Buddies

Bud'dy (bud — ē)n. — 1. friend. 2. orientation leader. 3. Greenburgh local bus. 4. 7 yr. old prgm. at W.H.S.

Oh my God. What am I doing here!? The first day at this big school! How will I ever find my classes? There are sooo many rooms and corridors! What if I get lost? What if I can't find my locker? What if I forget my combination? What if all the stories about the initiations are true? Joe told me that his brother got thrown into that dirty pond and his friend got mugged in the bathroom! oh no!! I guess I shouldn't go into the bathroom. What if I have to go? There are sooo many kids here! How am I going to make any friends? Oh no! Here comes one of those tall seniors! She's coming straight at me! Is this initiation?!? What's that green badge? Oh no she knows my name? Where can I run? What! Help? . . . me? Buddy? What a relief.

Do you remember your buddy?

If you've ever passed by Art Room 6 after school, you may have been surprised to hear a triumphant cry of "Check!" What's going on in there, a new course in restaurant management? No, it's only someone attacking a king. "Attacking a king?," you say in horror and amazement. No, visiting heads of state have not come to Woodlands. "What's going on?" you ask. Suddenly you hear an announcement that the queen has captured the bishop. What could the queen possibly want with the bishop? Before you can ponder this any longer, she has captured two knights. What strange things are happening in there? Why are people being constantly abducted? Unable to restrain your curiosity any longer, you burst into the room and find . . . the WHS Chess Club engaged in battle upon the chessboards.

What is more fun than getting up on a Sunday morning at 7:00 AM to be in a picture for the cover of the Yearbook, and finding a note which reads "Due to lack of communication, the picture has been cancelled. Go back to sleep! Sari."? It's going back a week later at 7:00 PM and having it actually taken, only to find that the picture was never used as the cover photo. Well we, the editors of Janus:83, will now let you in on a little secret. All we wanted to do was to see if there was any school spirit happening at Woodlands. Now, of course anything can happen once, but if it happens twice then you know that it must be true. That is why we set up the two different dates. Although we regret having had to deceive you by your thinking that we were actually going to use this picture for the cover, I think that we definitely proved to Dr. Grey that Woodlands' students have lots of spirit, in fact enough to go around even twice!

We have tomorrow
Bright before us
like a flame.

Yesterday, a night — gone thing
A sun — down name.

And dawn today
Broad arch above the road we came.
We march!

Chai Society

No, these are not the foreign exchange students from Israel, nor are they the convention for future Rabbis. These kids, (at right, with the funny shirts with wierd letters on them, big noses, you can't miss 'em) are the W.H.S. contingent to "Woodlands Community Temple in Israel" trip 1982! These Juniors and Seniors all participated in a six week long journey through time and space in Israel during the summer of 1982. The trip was sponsored by the National Federation of Temple Youth. They weren't frightened by the threat of war there, nor were they lazy about the work they did on the Desert Kibbutz for 2 weeks (picking pears at 3:00 A.M.!) And, as the new Israeli slogan goes, "they toured Israel, and lived!"

Debate Team

The Debate Team would like to clear up any doubts that you might have as to what Debate really is. Here are a few definitions our team members have come up with: debate — De thing on the end of a hook that catches de fish. debate — The thing that you have with your mother when you stay out too late. debate — The thing President Reagan could never understand how to do. Then we all debated on which definition to use, since there are so many. So we looked up in Webster's Dictionary, and here's what it said: debate — A contest by argument for and against. Now that you know what it is, there's no room for (yes, were gonna say it . . .) DEBATE!

This year The Falcon took flight. Even before last year was over, Advisor Tony Howarth called together the two new editors — Richard Kleban and Deborah Washington. Meeting several times during summer vacation, the three organized the network — advisor, editors, reporters, staff, and most important, readers — which is the prevalent key in a successful Falcon. Through the diligent efforts of everyone involved, we hope that we have made The Falcon not only an informative newspaper for the school, but an experience in journalism in which everyone benefits.

Who is E.B.C.C.? Why, we are an elite group of young men and women who function as junior counselors to students who are doing career research. Most of us are former Business Dynamics students who are gracious enough to extend a helping hand to the students who are currently enrolled in this spectacular course. Each year we have grown in numbers and in strength. We're proud of our achievements as it regards The Career Lecture Series, The Mini-WISE Presentations, and The E.B.C.C. Awards Banquet. Our versatility has earned us friends in the school and community environs, as well as respect from the powers that be. "We are family — EBCC!"

The club is comprised of students from the several Italian classes, with Mrs. Maria Vannucci as founder, organizer and friend to all. Different activities that the club provides are the Italian Culture Nights, at which Italian food — related projects are presented, field trips to various Italian movies and art exhibits, and excursions to Italian restaurants. This year's junior class is an ambitious crowd. Up to now, we have conducted many fund raisers besides the usual candy sales and car washes. We've sold such items as key chains and gourmet cookbooks very successfully. The Class of '84 plans to hold a fashion show and dinner to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. We are always looking for community service projects to participate in, and intend to continue doing so during our final year at Woodlands. In the past the junior class has taken ski trips which have been of great enjoyment to all participants. This spring, we have planned a trip to Great Adventure. Next year, we expect to adhere to the traditional "senior weekend" and prom, as well as a graduation here at Woodlands. The junior class is a very close knit class, and as we look towards the next year, we hope to grow closer before we part.

Key Club

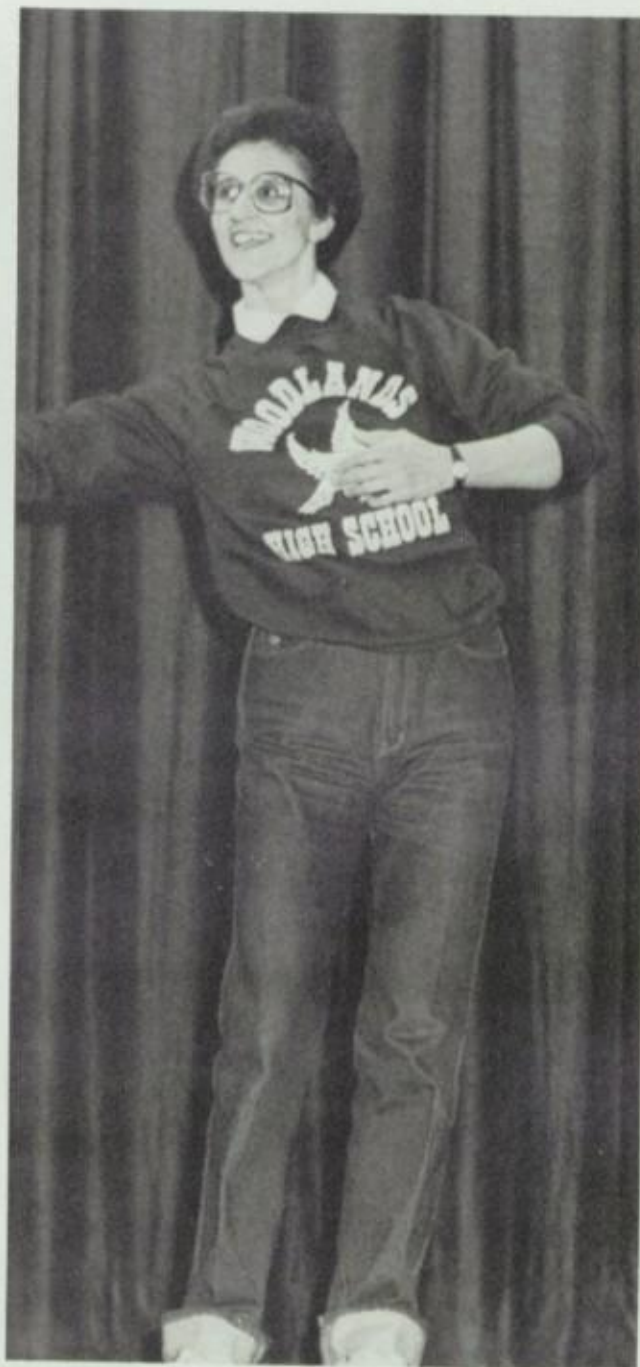

The purpose of the Key Club is to serve the school and community. Key Club itself is an international organization that has many levels of leadership, from an International President to the individual member of each club. These members are the most important part of Key Club. The W.H.S. Key Club is a very active club. Over the course of the year we run many important services for the school such as the Junior and Senior High back-to-school nights, the fall, winter, and spring pep-rallies, mailings for the Falcon Sports Club, helping out in the office, and many other services which we are asked to perform by the staff. The successful Student-Faculty Talent Show was also initiated by the Key Club and will continue to become an annual event. Key Club is a lot of work, but when your done you get a warm feeling of accomplishment.

Childhood Interns

The Early Childhood Interns are a dedicated group of students, many of whom give up their lunch period for the year so that they can take this course, which involves two periods every day. The Interns enjoy working hard in their Early Childhood classrooms at Union Child Day Care Center, the Greenburgh Nursery School, and the Highview School. The Internship may involve anything from diapering babies, to helping children with craft projects, to helping children with reading and arithmetic. Students may specialize in Art, Gym, Music, Special Education, the School for the Deaf, and Blythdale Children's Hospital. Often students choose to work with the teachers they loved when they were little. The Interns enjoy the love and respect of the teachers and the children in their early childhood classrooms. Many continue on in this field in college, pursuing careers in psychology, education, social work, and pediatrics.

When I am as old as my father is now, I will be five times as old as my son is now. By then, my son will be eight years older than I am now. The combined ages of my father and myself are one-hundred years. How old is my son? You have exactly five minutes to solve this problem. What do you do? Ask a member of the WHS Math Team! This bunch of math-lovers spends the first Mon. of every month in either the Edgemont, Scarsdale or Woodlands cafeteria solving (or trying to solve) intricate math problems. And what is their reward? One point for each correct answer and, of course, ice cream, chocolate chip cookies, and other quick-energy foods. (By the way, the answer to the above question is 13.)

While walking through the halls, have you ever come across somebody seeking the light of truth?, holding scholarly habits?, engaging in worthy service?, leading forward in all things that shall advance the finest interests of Woodlands High School? Well, you're dreaming. No, seriously, you have just stumbled across a member of the National Honor Society. One of the largest clubs in the school, we had a field trip in New York and tutored underclassmen in various subjects.

Orienteering

Who are those people running crazily through the halls and forests of Woodlands? Catch one and he'll tell you, he's an orienteer. That doesn't help much. What is an orienteer? What is orienteering? Orienteering is a sport in which people, with map and compass, race from point to point through the woods as marked on their map. It's not as difficult as it sounds, and it's a lot of fun. So the next time you see one of us, don't just ask us what we're doing, ask us where the meeting is and try it yourself. Orienteering, the thinking sport.

Passages

This year's Passages staff has a lot to live up to. Last year, Passages won the first place award in the Columbia University Literary Contest. This year we are continuing the same old tradition. We are expressing the thoughts and feelings of students in Woodlands through their artwork, short stories, photography and poetry. The staff's hope of organizing a magazine of quality material is coming together again. Hopefully, with the guidance of our new advisor, Mrs. Calvin, this will be made possible.

Having a substitute can usually mean having a good time for that period. However, who ever gives some thought and consideration to the students responsible for "breaking" these substitutes in, so to speak? Well, down in one of the less frequently used rooms of Woodlands H.S. is where this proud, and highly trained, group of students work. We are able to utilize our acquired knowledge of sociology, psychology and Shop II, to instill in these future substitute teachers a certain 'hardness of character.' Out of the goodness of our hearts, we donated one-half of the proceeds from our Tag-Sale to The Lady Republicans for Reagan. The rest was used to purchase the latest in laboratory equipment.

Student Performing Arts is an outgrowth of the Woodlands Junior High after-school theatre program (1980-81), the S.P.A. Summer Camp (1981), and the extension of these programs through the inclusion of high school students. Last Spring, S.P.A. brought their production of "Bye Bye Birdie" to Woodlands High School. "Bye, Bye Birdie" was a great success thanks to the help of devoted teachers such as Mrs. Loatman, Mrs. Feller and Mr. White. Another factor contributing to making the show what it was, was the close bonds of friendship that developed between the cast members.

Last year, we spoke about the alien invasion by the planet "music" (South-Southwest of Mars) by Mitch White and his band of musical monsters. Well, they've returned, and have brought along more people. This year's group (slightly larger than last) is also better, so if you didn't catch their crazy classical, jumpin' jazz, or powerful pop at the Christmas concert, or if you didn't see them banging away at the Football games, even if you missed their Christmas carols at the crowded Hartsdale Train Station, don't miss another beat, and check 'em out at their Spring Concert . . . or else the next time they "bring the house down", it may fall down on you!

Sr. Class

This year's Senior Class has a lot to live up to. Being the twentieth class to graduate from Woodlands, and a participator in the "I Am Somebody" program in eighth grade, we are a rather unique class in many ways. This year's board had decided to make a couple of changes from the previous year's structure. One is that, we have decided to hold our graduation ceremony at the Westchester County Center instead of on the soccer field. Of course I could go on about all of the other wonderful things that our board has come up with, but let me stop! All I'll say is that the Class of '84 has a tough act to follow!

Wash. Wkshps.

The Washington Workshops Congressional Seminar is a highly selective program for juniors and seniors. Students from every state in the nation, and students from abroad, combine to make up this unique, one-week experience. During the seminar, students will spend four days in Wash., D.C. At this time, Senators and Representatives speak to the group about various current topics. In the evening, the group of about 125 students divide into four committees. Each committee will design and write up a bill of their own. On Fri. evening, each committee presents their bill at a Model Congress. This is the most beneficial part, and also the culmination, of the seminar. Wash. is a great city to tour, and participants gain many new friends from all over the world. The only negative criticism of the program that students report is that it only lasts one week.

Psst! There's nothing secret about the Woodlands Student Assembly. It's in the forefront of school activities; leading students onward in spirit and administrative participation. This is the 5th year that our student government has been in existence and each year holds more surprises than the previous one.

This year, the W.S.A. began the school year with Halloween Day. It was a tremendous success with teachers and students alike, dressing up not only for prizes, but just for the fun of it.

W.S.A. is comprised of one representative, and one alternate from each of the Social Studies classes for grades 9-12. Then, along with the five officers they make up a strong group of students. The guidance of advisors, Mr. Ciotola and Mr. Arin give the group its cohesiveness.

The Optional School is a great place to be. The Optional School has different ideas about how a school should be run. The classes are smaller and the kids get more attention from teachers who really care. The Optional School is not a push-over, it is a place to learn. The main difference is that we work at our own pace, but we still get the same amount of work done. The atmosphere of the school is different from that of Woodlands because the students know one another and it's like a close knit family. Don't listen to the rumors about the Optional School, but talk to a person who attends the school and who really knows what the Optional School is all about.

DEREK L. EVANS

My Favorite Year is one filled with illustrious experiences.
In it, is a person of whom I spend a majority of my time with.
Deneen Dozier (for those who did not know) the person whose talents
I prize away with great Honor. I dedicate this, to you: I seize away your love, I cherish your pose, like the Fragrance of a flower Caught once by the nose, caught twice by the eyes, three times by the ears,
I will tickle your fancy and play with your fears, Lost not by a game, Yet one by the heart, which surely would break should we dare part. In joyous remembrings of the times we'll spent with the Fellows I say to: B.
Brown the oracle, Ron J. the ready, Ken M. the courageous, Chris M. the cool, D. Rock and the ones I forgot, I OWE YOU ONE. The teachers both good and bad, GOODBYE. Special thanks to my mother and sibling brother, Mrs. Gray Keep nodding! In the years I attended high school, I have learned that hatred is self-punishment.
So, to everyone in WOODLAND HIGH: I LU Z YA!

Time has gone by too quickly. And now is the time to say goodbye to my family, and to all my dear friends.

THANK YOU:

Mami and Papi for being behind me in all my decisions, good ones as well as bad ones.

To my dear friend Barry, You have taught me much, especially of myself. I will always treasure your wisdom. Thank you, and I hope to see you very soon.

RISK

To laugh is to risk appearing the fool
To weep is to risk appearing sentimental
To reach out for another is to risk exposing our true self
To place your ideas, your dreams before the crowd is to risk loss
To love is to risk not being loved in return
To live is to risk dying
To hope is to risk despair
To try is to risk failure
But risk we must, because the greatest hazard in life is to risk nothing

The man and the woman who risk nothing, does nothing, is nothing has nothing, is nothing and will be nothing.

KEEP TRYING

There's no skill in easy sailing
When the skies are clear and blue,
There's no joy in merely doing
Things that anyone can do,
But there is great satisfaction,
That is mighty sweet to take
When you reach a destination
That you said you couldn't make.

thing you can listen to billions of people at once!
Did you know that you & I are a couple of "non-conformists?" People scoff & yell fanaticism!-because we "hang-out" together so much! If they only knew what they are missing! Every weekend I hear, dont party too hard-dont get too zooted! Dont they know I've got the best going! Who makes me "tick" & gets me re-charged, & fired-up everyday is All-
Powerful! LORD, everybody is going in a "circle"!
They want satisfaction: over & again, they look for it in the "in-things", "new fads"...they try drugs, illicit sex, fun-pot-parties, wild cruises..How can you have fun being in bondage to something that destroys you? That's a bit of "hell on earth"! Such purposeless lives! "Bright lights" look nice in the crowd; & uno, the center!--then when the fun & crowd dwindles away, people go home with a hangover lonely, afraid to be with themselves-so they blast the radio-hard rock-disco. Some join cults. They dont want the "real thing"! Most have religion enough & rituals-most dont know GOD! With all my heart, I yearn for them to know: God said, (I) will go down to man, & seek after him whom I love & made! "FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD, THAT HE GAVE HIS ONLY BEGOTTEN SON, (yeshua Messiah:Jesus the Christ; Heb) THAT WHOEVER BELIEVES IN HIM SHOULD NOT PERISH, BUT HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE!"

I MADE IT!

Janet L. Lewis

As the years rolled on, the days dragged by and the periods went by very slowly. I finally made it to the end. Days went by slowly and work got harder each marking period. But with sleepless nights, I did my best by studying to get to this point. I suggest to those that are left behind to do the same.

ROCK I — Y'ALL!!

Goodbye Woodlands H.S.
My time has come
All my years of H.S.
Are now done.
The years I was here
Went by very slow
But at last it's time
For me to go.
To all my friends
That have to stay
I hope you too
graduate someday.
My teachers and friends
I readily bless
As I go out
To reach for success.

Special Thanks to: All the smart girls that made my homework and tests easier.
And to B.N. for all the advice.

Now that me and T.D. are gone — R.P., L.G., and M.P.

Since this ad space has been purchased by my Grandparents, I would like to take this opportunity to express the following thoughts:

Grandma and Grandpa — Thank you for always being so incredibly loving and helpful throughout all of my endeavors.

Mom — I love you for being YOU and for always encouraging me to be MYSELF and to discover this world and my talents on my own.

Class of '83 — From Misty (my dripping pooch) and myself, we wish you all the best of luck and happiness in life. And don't worry — I'm already starting to plan our 10th reunion!

It's 4:30 P.M., February 16th, three days after the Blizzard of '83 and the Yearbook is finished. Croppers, Picture Tabs, Typesheets, White-Out and Layout sheets are needed no more. But there will surely be an echo in the Art room.

ERIC: "Where's Jocelyn? . . . She's got the quarter-pages and Ellen will do the Typesheets."

JOCELYN: "I'll work on this stuff tonight and bring it over to Eric's house tomorrow for mailing."

ELLEN: "Eric, when do you want it by? Clic . . . clic . . . clic . . . z, z, z, z, t . . . ding."

Seems like everyday for the past four months Eric has been making this Yearbook happen. Ask Reggie Wilson, the Custodian in the Art wing. 3:30 P.M., January 18th.

REGGIE: "Is this all you do . . . work on the Yearbook? When I was at Woodlands we . . ."

Yes, Eric and a large staff of students have worked hard to reach out, collect, assemble and produce a Yearbook that truly reflects a special moment in Woodlands history.
Thanks — Andrew Courtney, Advisor.

Dearest Jewel,

You have been one of my only true friends, and you know how much friendship, true friendship, means to me. I'm glad we got to know each other, and I'm glad we became as close as we are. I thank you for all that you have given me, both material things and your emotional support. I'll be in debt to you forever, and I hope that one day, when I am able, I'll be able to bring some happiness into your life.
You deserve it.
In the future, remember to think with your head, and love with your heart. Also remember that I love you. - Sharon

Jewel,

P.S. Don't ever. Way. W.K.
forget me! (Smiley face)

Janus, the god of portals in Roman mythology, was also the patron of beginnings and endings, and as such, had two faces: one looking forward, the other back. Leaving, we look to the future in our quest for more knowledge, yet we must always remember our past and what we have been taught.
